

State aid cuts: -$90k for Andover

By Don Staruk

Last week's cuts in the state budget by the Legislature translate to "roughly about a $90,000 reduction" in aid to Andover, according to Tony Torrisi, budget and finance director.

The legislature cut $265 million from a Man with knife robs Spa of about $347

By Don Staruk

A knife-wielding man robbed the Andover Spa last Saturday afternoon, threatening the clerk with the weapon before escaping with approximately $347 in cash.

The robber waited until other customers left the store at about 2:30 p.m. before slipping around the side of the checkout counter and pulling a knife on the clerk, according to Charlie Webb, Spa owner.

"He poked a knife into the young fellow's side and said, 'Give me everything you've got,' and in two seconds he was gone," Mr. Webb said. "Just opened up the register drawer and cleaned out all the bills."

The robber then fled across the street on foot.

Customers who had just left the store and were still outside didn't even know a robbery had taken place, according to the store owner.

"It happened so quick nobody even knew what was going on," Mr. Webb said.

Mr. Webb had left the store about 15

Library tells Andover: Kids have access

By Lisa A. Boudreau

The Memorial Hall Library is looking for a new image. The town began a public relations campaign this week to promote the facility and down play the recent controversy surrounding its policy limiting children's access to the building's main floor.

Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski and Nancy Jacobson, the library's director, held a press conference and tour of the library Monday.

The two, along with Town Counsel Alfred Daniels, discussed

'Some reports have not made it clear that children have the ability to use the adult section upstairs within certain rules and regulations.'

the library's policy that has come under fire from local children, parents, the American Library Association and the Massachusetts Civil Liberties Union.

Mr. Daniels is now answering all questions concerning the policy because the MCLU has threatened to sue the library if the policy isn't changed.

"We do have a policy for use of the adult section of the library by children," said Mr. Stapczynski.

"Some reports have not made it clear that children have the ability to use the adult section upstairs... within certain rules and

Should kindergarteners switch sessions at mid-year?

By Lisa A. Boudreau

Two out of every three Andover parents of kindergarten-aged children, who made their preference known, would prefer that morning and afternoon sessions of kindergarten don't switch mid-way through the school year, said Linnea Gershenberg, director the Early Childhood Center at Shawsheen School.

Traditionally, Andover and the through the school year. Mrs. Gershenberg said she solicited parents' comments by posting the query next to the kindergarten assignment sheet that has been attached to the school door since the second week in July.

Parents were told at kindergarten registration earlier this summer their children's assignments, either morning or afternoon session, would

The policy, which has been in effect approximately 15 years or more, says: "Any child may use the adult library when accompanied by a parent. If a child has the need for materials not found in the Children's Room, one of the Children's Room staff may give the child a note to take to the adult section to find material and check it out. Once a child passes the sixth grade he/she is entitled to use the adult library."

Mr. Stapczynski said the policy will remain in effect until the library trustees subcommittee reports to the board Sept. 12. He said the library wants to publicize the policy and make sure the entire library staff and public is aware of it.

"We're not anti-kid," said Mr. Stapczynski. "We want to invite sixth graders into the library to use it. That's what it's for," he said.

The two-member subcommittee of Karen Herman and Margaret Jurgen, of the eight-member Memorial Hall Library Board of Trustees, will research various questions about the rules and regulations of other libraries in the area while Mr. Daniels and Mr. Stapczynski research the legal question of adults and children in a public library.

Until the board meets in September or legal constraints arise that necessitate a change, the policy will stand as is, said Mr. Stapczynski.

graders at South Elementary School, will be featured on a radio program discussing library access. Janine, the daughter of John and Cynthia Givens, and Lee, the daughter of Gerald and Jean Palmer, collected 150 signatures of their classmates at school, denouncing the library policy and calling for a change.

They will be on WBZ radio AM 1030, on a show called Kid Company this Sunday, Aug. 5, from 6 to 7 p.m. The two girls will be broadcasting live in the studio, talking about their petition and taking calls from listeners.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Business subcommittee takes a break

The Central Business District Subcommittee canceled a meeting it had scheduled for last Friday morning, July 27, and will take a hiatus for the summer, according to Stephen Colyer, town planning director.

"It's just a scheduling problem right now," Mr. Colyer said Thursday.

Bill Dalton, a member of the subcommittee, said a number of conflicts between his schedule and that of Hooks Johnston, another member of the group, had prompted them to postpone meeting again until September.

"We agreed to just put everything off until after labor day," Mr. Dalton said.

The CBD subcommittee was formed by the Planning Board last spring to examine problems in the business district and to recommend ways to keep basic services from moving out of downtown. The closing of Barcelos grocery store, on Main Street, focussed attention on problems in the CBD.

Mr. Dalton said the group is "getting to the nitty gritty" of accomplishing what it set out to do and will work on writing its recommendations in the fall.

"I think we are at the point of tying everything up," Mr. Dalton said this week.

The group originally had participation from several members of the business community, but after the town attorney advised that non-elected and non-appointed citizens could not participate on an official town board, their involvement dropped off. The subcommittee now officially consists of only Mr. Johnston and Mr. Dalton, both Planning Board members, and Harry Smith, the planning department's liaison to the group.

No date has been set for the next meeting.

NESWC prices won't go up for the time being

Despite an effort by the operator of the trash-to-energy plant in North Andover to raise Andover's tipping fees, residents don't have to worry about the town paying more money at the facility yet, according to Bob McQuade, public works director.

"We've got a long period of litigation and arbitration to go before even contemplating it," Mr. McQuade said last week. "Right now, we don't plan to lose."

Francis Hopcroft, executive director of the Northeast Solid Waste Committee, announced July 10 that Wheelabrator Environmental Systems Inc., the operator of the plant, was trying to raise the rates.

NESWC is a group of 23 communities, including Andover, which signed 20-year contracts to use the facility in order to have it built. Now, five years into those contracts, the operator is asking for more money, according to Mr. Hopcroft.

"This came as a complete surprise," Mr. Hopcroft said.

Wheelabrator is claiming that the type of trash being brought to the incinerator burns hotter than expected and that this problem makes the facility more expensive to maintain, according to Mr. McQuade, Andover's NESWC representative.

"It has a higher BTU. It burns hotter and these incinerators are harder to maintain," Mr. McQuade said.

Nobody has pinned down the cause for the hotter temperatures, according to Mr. McQuade, but he said it is not the result of recyclable products being removed from the waste stream.

NESWC has requested more information regarding the problem from Wheelabrator, according to Mr. McQuade, and is not going to give in easily.

"The two parties are trying to get an independent arbitrator," Mr. McQuade said.

"They're scratching for more money and we don't agree with them."

Collins Center drive raises $5,000

The fund raiser aimed at helping pull the J. Everett Collins Center for the Performing Arts out from under a $150,000 debt has brought in approximately $5,000 so far.

The Andover Endowment for the Arts, the non-profit group that oversees the center for the town, sent out 22,000 letters to patrons of the facility, asking for donations, said Jared Clark, acting director.

"We're very pleased with the returns and we're looking forward to greater responses from the letters sent out," said Mr. Clark.

He added that the fund-raiser is expected to raise about one-third of the money needed to get the center out of debt. Donations have ranged from $10 to numerous $100 gifts, Mr. Clark said. The letters were sent to patrons of the facility during the past eight years and included a $5 coupon towards tickets for this year's season.

COOKING

For this cook, every dish has its season

By Maria Moskos

Certain culinary treats can be prepared at their best in this area only in the summer time. One example is Rumtopf.

As soon as local strawberries become available I start assembling this progressive treat. In July, when zucchini blossoms appear, I harvest them early in the day and prepare either zucchini blossom fritters, zucchini blossoms with risotto, or zucchini blossoms stuffed with chevre, seasoned with rosemary and crushed black pepper and lightly broiled after being brushed with olive oil.

The blossoms are a true delicacy as they are not to my knowledge available in supermarkets or farm stands.

Gravenstein apples are available in mid-August and this means apple pies to assemble and freeze for the winter. These apples are available for a very short time and are my favorite pie apple. I prepare several pies and freeze them unbaked, then place them in the oven from the freezer before company arrives. They produce a wonderful pie. The pie crust recipe I use for this pie is easy, delicious and presents itself nicely.

In September, when frost is predicted and green tomatoes are plentiful, don't fret because you can enjoy them prepared in a green tomato quiche or fried, coated with curry-and-garlic flavored cornmeal. To everything there is a season, and I'm sure you'll agree after trying these recipes. When there is a limit on time, that which captures that moment becomes very special.

Rumtopf

One wide-mouthed glass jar with cover (1 and 1/2 quart capacity)

Fresh fruit (well-ripened, washed, in season)

Strawberries
Blueberries
Cherries, pitted
Raspberries
Pineapple, diced
Apricots, diced

Peaches, sliced
Gooseberries
Plums, diced
Pears, sliced
Sugar
Rum
1 stick of cinnamon

Begin filling glass jar with first fresh fruit of the season. Add the same weight of sugar as fruit and cover with rum. As more fruits become available, add a cup of each at a time with a cup of sugar for each. More rum is added as needed to keep the mixture covered (or fruit will become moldy). Add cinnamon stick and keep the jar covered and in a cool spot. It takes about five to six weeks for one layer to ripen. Stir well before serving as, over pound cake or as a topping for ice cream.

Risotto with zucchini blossoms

It's imperative to pick zucchini blossoms early in the day when they are fully open. Immediately after picking, soak the blossom

THE SPINE

From front to back the spine should be straight up and down.

A side view of the normal spine should show four curves—two curves to the front and two to the back.

An auto accident, a severe fall or injury can cause these vertebrae to become subluxated causing pressure on the spinal nerves. Every organ in the body has a nerve supply and any time these nerves are pinched by misaligned vertebrae they can cause various discomforts—headaches, back or neck tension, shoulder pain, etc. That leads us to ask:

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC AND HOW CAN IT HELP?

Chiropractic Care is a Drugless Natural Way to Good Health!

Discovered by D.D. Palmer in 1895, chiropractic today is widely recognized as a primary health care system and is included within the Medicare and Medicaid programs along with 640 insurance companies.

Many people think that chiropractic deals only with back problems—this is a misconception which we would like to explain. CHIROPRACTIC deals with the spinal column and the spinal cord which carries all the vital nerves of the entire body. The science of Chiropractic is founded on the premises that adequate nerve supply is of prime importance in regulating body function. Chiropractors use this scientific principle to maintain health and to correct the cause of disease. The soundness of its basic principle is documented by countless sufferers restored to good health by Chiropractic care.

There is no way that we can tell you all about Chiropractic care in a few short paragraphs—but a short visit to our office and we can answer any questions that you may have.

CHIROPRACTIC RESULTS

These are x-rays taken of a patient after an automobile accident, and the corrective results from the chiropractic adjustments.

1 and 1/2 tbsp. butter

1/4 cup parmigiano cheese, grated

Cut 10 zucchini blossoms into bite-size pieces with culinary shears. Dice prosciutto into small pieces.

Heat oil and butter in sauce pan over medium heat until butter is melted. Add prosciutto and parsley and saute a few minutes over low heat. Add rice and saute four minutes over medium heat.

Bring chicken broth to a boil. Gradually add to rice stirring constantly and adding more broth only after previous broth has been absorbed. Add zucchini blossoms. Season with salt, pepper and dill. When rice is al dente (after about 20 minutes), remove pan from heat and add butter and parmigiano cheese. Stir well and serve hot garnished with the reserved blossom and a sprig of dill. Serves three.

Apple pie, 10"

Crust:

2 cup Gold Medal flour

1 tsp. salt

2/3 cup Crisco

4 tbsp. cold water

Second crust:

1 cup Gold Medal flour

1/2 cup granulated sugar

1/2 cup butter, chilled

1 tsp. cinnamon

Filling:

3/4 cup granulated sugar

1 tsp. cinnamon

1/4 tsp. All spice

1/4 tsp. nutmeg

1 tbsp. flour

6 cups peeled, cored and sliced Gravenstein apples about 1/8" thick (about 2 pounds)

1 tbsp. lemon juice

2 tbsp. butter, cut into small pieces

To prepare crust, blend salt and flour in a mixing bowl, then mix in Crisco with a pastry blender. Add cold water and mix well. Since the least handling makes the flakiest crust, instead of rolling out the bottom crust, choose the moister crumbs and place them in the bottom of a 10" pie plate and pat them down with the base of your hand. Keep turning the plate, adding more crumbs where needed until the bottom and sides are covered. No need to flute the edge. Set the bowl with the remaining crust aside while preparing the filling.

To prepare filling, combine sugar, cinnamon, allspice, nutmeg and flour in a large mixing bowl. Add the apples and lemon juice and toss gently. Fill the prepared pie shell with the mixture, mounding it higher in the center. Dot the top of the filling with the butter.

Add ingredients from crust to the crust ingredients remaining in the mixing bowl, starting with 1 cup flour and adding 1 teaspoon cinnamon, blending in 1/2 cup butter and then 1/2 cup sugar. Spoon these moist crumbs over the top of the apple filling and pat down gently. Make a few slits through the top of the pie crust and bake on the middle shelf of a 400-degree oven for 40 to 50 minutes.

Fried green tomatoes

4 medium green tomatoes, sliced 1/2" thick

1 tsp. salt

1/2 tsp. pepper

1/2 tsp. curry
1 large garlic clove put through a press
1 cup cornmeal
Olive oil for frying
Mix seasonings and garlic with cornmeal in pie plate. Batter each tomato slice, coating thoroughly. Heat oil to 375 degrees in skillet. Cook tomatoes until golden on both sides; drain on paper towels. Serves 4-6.

Andover Bank sponsors talk on pension use

More than 150 people arrived at Gildea Hall, Merrimack College, recently, to listen to David Hammond, vice president of Northeast Retirement Services Inc., deliver a presentation on "Make the Most of Your Pension Distribution."

Sponsored by the Andover Bank, this free retirement planning seminar provided information on money-saving tax strategies and investment alternatives for retirement distributions. Mr. Hammond, an author, columnist and consultant specializing in tax-deferred retirement planning, reviewed the pros and cons of retirement distribution options including five- or 10-year income averaging, IRA rollover and various investments.

Attendees said they learned the importance of early planning for retirement distribution as well as many tax saving tips.

Andover Bank plans to offer this seminar again in the near future. Future seminars on investment strategies, banking services for senior citizens and maximizing the use of one's home equity line of credit are being considered in response to consumer requests.

To be placed on a mailing list for future Andover Bank sponsored seminars, call 475-6103 or sign up at any Andover Bank office.

Joseph Doherty heads Rotary

Joseph B. Doherty Jr. of J.B. Doherty Associates in Andover was recently elected president of the 110-member Lawrence Rotary Club.

Mr. Doherty has been an active participant within a number of community organizations including president of the American Cancer Society and the Greater Lawrence Board of Realtors, and current vice president of the Lawrence Boys Club.

Mr. Doherty's goals as president of Rotary will be to expand the club's community involvement via active participation by Rotarians in community projects coupled with providing assistance to community organizations with specific financial needs.

He intends to strengthen the public's awareness of the significant contributions given to the community by Rotarians. More than $11,000 in scholarships have been awarded annually to students who live within the Greater Lawrence area. Rotarians will continue to participate in the national Rotary Foundation, which administers scholarships for students to study abroad. Polio Plus, a national Rotarian effort to eradicate polio world-wide, will be another focus for this program year. Locally, Rotarians read to children and provide role models to students at the Hennessey School in Lawrence through the Adopt-a-School program.

Rotary is an international organization consisting of business and professional men and women who provide humanitarian service, encourage high ethical standards in all vocations, and help build goodwill and peace in the world.

For more information on Rotary, contact Mr. Doherty at 475-5970.

MSPCC receives $4k grant

The Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children (MSPCC) has been granted $4,000 from The Millipore Foundation. The grant will benefit the Good Start program, which serves the Greater Lawrence area.

Good Start is an infant intervention program that provides counseling, education and support to expectant and new parents in the stressful first year of a newborn's life.

Philip Puccia of Andover, MSPCC Northeast Region advisory board member and corporate risk manager at Millipore, was instrumental in obtaining the grant.

"Because one of our employees came to us, we were happy to provide our support for such a worthy cause," said Charleen L. Johnson, executive director of the Millipore Foundation.

The MSPCC is the only private statewide non-profit child welfare agency. Since its founding in 1878, the MSPCC has served more than one million children.

Kelly Services joins Microsoft

Kelly Temporary Services and Microsoft Corporation have announced a business alliance to better service the needs of the companies' customers using Microsoft(R) Word word processing software.

The business alliance, which unites the nation's largest temporary service firm and the largest microcomputer software company, will enable Microsoft and Kelly Temporary Services in Andover and across the nation to work together on the recruitment and training of temporary employees for assignment to businesses that use Microsoft Word. Microsoft Word is one of the leading word processing software packages in North America.

"This alliance will give our temporary employees additional opportunities for more assignments on one of the nation's most widely used word processing software packages," said John Bitterman, manager of the Andover Kelly Temporary Services branch office.

Under the terms of the agreement, Kelly will train and support its temporary employees on Microsoft Word software. Kelly's new Microsoft Word Reference Guide and the exclusive Kelly Office Automation Hotline, a toll-free service that provides assistance to temporary employees on office automation assignments, will support temporary employees on Microsoft Word assignments.

According to Ruth Warren, product manager at Microsoft Corporation, Kelly and Microsoft agreed to work together because of the consistent goals of the two companies to provide top-quality, well-rounded support for customers.

Seminar features talk on personnel policies

"Are Your Personnel Policies a Ticking Time Bomb?" will be the topic of a seminar sponsored by Paychex Inc.

Thomas Royall Smith of the national labor law firm Jackson, Lewis, Kohnitzer & Krupman will be the guest speaker. The seminar will be held Tuesday, Aug. 14, from 8:30 a.m. to noon at the Vista International Hotel, 70 Third Ave., Waltham. The cost is $45.

DCS, Historical Society plan walking tour of Shawsheen

By Barbara Thibault

Join the Shawsheen Village walking tour on Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 6:30 p.m. Meet Barbara Thibault of the Andover Historical Society in the parking lot at North Main and Haverhill streets. The walk is co-sponsored by the Historical Society and Andover Department of Community Service.

William Wood, president of the American Woolen Co., carefully planned Shawsheen Village (1919-1924), a model community of manufacturing, residential, commercial and recreational facilities, at the intersection of North Main, Lowell, Haverhill and Poor streets.

As you tour the tree-lined streets, you will see popular classical revival styles of architecture with ornamental center entrances, decorative cornices, double-hung windows with many panes, varied roof shapes and columned porticos. Architects, landscape designers, engineers and contractors used up-to-date materials and the most efficient technologies.

Look for physical evidence of the 18th- and 19th-century Frye Village, the mill community Shawsheen Village replaced. Mr. Wood's respect for America's past is exemplified in his preservation by moving of many Frye Village buildings, like the Village Hall and residences that were relocated to Balmoral Street and in his style choice for new construction.

Barbara Thibault of the Andover Historical Society will lead a walking tour of Shawsheen Village Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 6:30 p.m.

His admiration for this country's heritage is further symbolized in the stone structure, formerly a boys' club, which was intended to replicate George Washington's headquarters at Valley Forge. It's still there at the intersection.

The entire Shawsheen Village plan emulated Anglo-American roots, and today its historical and architectural integrity have been nationally recognized by its inclusion on the National Register of Historic Places.

Local pride in this designation is indicated by the bronze plaque and boulder dedicated in 1979 by the Shawsheen Village Neighborhood Association.

The tour is a portion of the new Shawsheen Village walking tour printed in a brochure as part of a series made possible by the Andover Historical Society and Andover Arts Lottery. Design and production were by the graphic communication department of Greater Lawrence Technical School.

PA writing workshop teaches more than writing

By Melissa DeMeo

Composition isn't a big favorite among a lot of students these days, but for a group that took part in a workshop at Phillips Academy this summer, writing's not bad at all.

Twenty-one participants in PA's two-week Bread Loaf Writing Workshop gave readings from their work Friday to a standing-room only crowd in Bullfinch Hall.

You would be hard-pressed to find a more diverse sampling of themes. There were no "What I Did Over Summer Vacation" stories here. Many were about the personal and global tragedies of racism; a few were about nature and the complexities of relationships; and two were about the deaths of family members.

One of the readers, 16-year-old Nthabiseng "Tabi" Mabuza, had the full attention of her audience with her piece about the children of her native land, South Africa.

Someone held the microphone for Tabi as she sat in front of the podium in her wheelchair. Tabi was left paralyzed from the waist down during a border raid by South African security forces and is in the United States seeking treatment at the New England Medical Center Floating Hospital.

"We remember those days long before you came," Tabi read. "Times when we were as free as birds and could experience the beauty of nature, the beauty of our country. The times when we the children had the right and pleasure of growing up."

Tabi was among a group of Boston young people who were recommended for the Bread Loaf Workshop.

"They're a diverse group that shared a common sense of purpose," said Paul Murphy, a junior at Trinity College and one of the program's teaching fellows.

Mr. Murphy and the other teaching fellows guided the sessions and made sure the students' critiques of one another's works were constructive. The kids worked from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. discussing their work and getting advice from writers like poets Thylas Moss and Bruce Smith.

"They gave me inspiration," said Jackie Louls, who will be a senior at Boston Latin Academy in the fall. The workshop "gave me a lot of confidence."

Jackie said she wasn't nervous reading her piece "My Memory of Him" because of the attentiveness of her peers.

"I looked down and they were all listening. And I thought, 'If they're listening, I must have something good to say.'"

"They felt so much support," said Mr. Murphy, who added the bonding and confidence were as much a part of the workshop experience as learning how to write.

And they did a lot of writing. The students published a 62-page anthology, which they distributed after the reading.

"I learned how to appreciate writing," said Nyasha Samuels of Mattapan, who will be a freshman at Boston Latin School.

It wasn't just students who learned how to write better, though. Another part of the workshop was devoted to teachers in primary and secondary schools "who want to develop their writing talents and become agents of change within their classrooms, schools and school systems," said Lou Bernieri, director of the Bread Loaf Workshop at PA. Most of the staff comes from Phillips' English department, of which Mr. Bernieri is the chairman.

Mr. Bernieri likes to have a diversity among staff and participants. They are male and female, black and white, Latino and Asian. The students "are not necessarily straight-A students" either, Mr. Bernieri said.

The workshop didn't seem like

Participants in the Andover/Bread Loaf Writing Program put their work in a 62-page anthology. The cover was designed by one of the students.

Will There Ever Be Peace?

The zebra lives with black and white on him. The colors don't mind being together. So I was looking at a picture and was wondering: If nobody minds the zebra with black and white, then why are there so many people that mind if black and white get along? You shouldn't close your mind and say "Because you're different from me then I'll be cruel." Well, I have this golden rule that I always remember. We're all the same. We're just like anyone else; we're all human beings. It doesn't matter what's on the outside, but what's on the inside.

That's the only difference between you and me. The difference is what people can't see. We like different things and we do different things and that's the difference. So don't be blinded by one's color or by one's race. We should live in this world together with peace.

Everybody has got to do his or her part. Look beyond the outside to the soul, deep within. If we all can do that then maybe we all can get along, and then there will be no more fights, guns, or wars. But like I said earlier: Look beyond the outside to the soul deep within. Then maybe peace will begin.

—Jannell L. Porter, West Roxbury High School student, read this piece at the conclusion of the Andover/Bread Loaf Writing Workshop Friday.

school work at all, said Boston Technical High School sophomore Paul Michaud. "It wasn't really hard," he said. "I thought it was good."

Paul said the experience he gained during the workshop will help him pursue his acting aspirations.

For Boston Latin School student Frank Santos, the workshop made "the hated words" of poetry a little more palatable:

*Poetry, poetry, poetry:
That word makes me cringe.
Just the sound of it Makes me want to jump off a bridge.*

*Maybe I am dumb or Not very smart;
I can't write poetry because I don't know how to start.*

A teacher's work is never done

Even though it's the middle of summer vacations, two teachers from Andover are still hitting the books at educators' institutes.

Paul Ostrowski and Allen Stone got tips of teaching American history and geography, respectively, this summer.

Mr. Ostrowski participated in an institute called "1492 Revisited: Past and Present Visions/Versions of the Conquest of America" at St. Anselm College June 24-30.

With the 500th anniversary of the "discovery" of America by Christopher Columbus approaching, the week-long institute sought to assist teachers who might want to develop units or courses in connection with the historical celebration.

Mr. Ostrowski, a teacher at Portsmouth, N.H., High School, was one of the 17 New Hampshire teachers selected to attend the program.

Mr. Stone took part in Wellesley College's Global Education Program July 5-25.

He was among 26 Massachusetts educators, elementary, middle and high school teachers.

The program co-sponsored a three-week summer institute, "Bringing Geography into the Curriculum: A Global Approach."

The institute is an intensive training program designed to inspire and guide teachers in the implementation of geography into curriculum, said Wellesley spokeswoman Susan Kramer.

Among the goals of the institute were to demonstrate how local and regional resources might be used to teach global and geographic issues in the classroom; and how teachers can develop strategies that use geography to enhance student learning.

Pat Edmonds, chairwoman of Memorial Hall Library's board of trustees, center, gives scholarships to the library's pages, Julie Madden and Michael Clement. The Andover High school graduates each won a $1,000 scholarship. Mr. Clement will attend Princeton University in the fall, and Ms. Madden is headed for Boston University.

Mass. firms award scholarships to employees' children

Two Andover students won scholarships from the firms where their fathers work.

Sean Gill, a June graduate of Andover High School, was among 16 children of NYNEX employees who received scholarships from the company.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Gill of 19 Korinthian Way, Mr. Gill works at Gram's Landscaping. He will attend Georgetown University's School of Foreign Service in the fall.

His father works for NYNEX

Sean Gill

Service Co. in Boston.

Mr. Gill was selected for the scholarship on the basis of his academic excellence, participation in school and community activities and work experience.

"The quality of students applying to our program is exceptional, and to be named a recipient is certainly an achievement," said Pattie Gallatin, director of corporate contributions and community affairs.

Once awarded, the scholarships are renewable for up to three years, depending on the programs in which the recipients are enrolled.

Kenneth A. Murphy, a June graduate of Brewster Academy in Wolfboro, N.H., is the recipient of a $2,000 scholarship from M/A-COM Inc.

in Burlington. He is the son of Kenneth and Madelyn Murphy of Andover.

The award was announced by Dr. Thomas A. Vanderslice, chairman and chief executive officer of M/A-COM.

Mr. Murphy will enter the University of Massachusetts at Amherst, where he will major in liberal arts.

He finished first in his class at Brewster Academy and received awards for art and writing. He was an active member of the debate team, co-editor of the school newspaper and a member of the lacrosse team.

Kenneth Murphy

Mr. Murphy is a sailing instructor for Lawrence Community Boating this summer.

Dr. Vanderslice said Mr. Murphy received one of 13 grants made this year to children of M/A-COM employees. The grants are competitive and based on the results of the Scholastic Aptitude Tests.

Mr. Murphy's father is a sales/marketing engineer at the semiconductor products division in Burlington.

"We are pleased to recognize and support the academic achievement and potential of these students as they pursue their college education," Dr. Vanderslice said.

The company's products are used primarily in defense electronics.

Bookworms raise money for MS Society

The Massachusetts chapter of the National Multiple Sclerosis Society recently honored 120 Massachusetts school children for their efforts in the 1990 MS Readathon at an awards dinner party at the Crowne Plaza Hotel in Natick.

Among the Andover participants in the readathon were champions Mark Ewalt and Jeffrey Kearns.

Mark, a student at Sanborn Elementary School, read 50 books and raised $728. A Bancroft Elementary School student, Jeff raised $541 for reading 40 books.

Both boys took part in the readathon through Memorial Hall Library, rather than through their schools.

"Kids who read through the library are very independently motivated," said Jane H. Fink, project manager of the readathon program. Ms. Fink said the MS Society's Andover program is coordinated through the library, although the schools provide some information.

Mark and Jeff were among the top 118 students who raised at least $400 each for multiple sclerosis research and support services by obtaining sponsors' pledges for each book they read during the six-week program.

Other Andover readers were Tirzah Heller and Pallabi Sanyal.

Across Massachusetts 6,000 school children read 120,000 books and raised $325,000 to benefit in-state service programs and national research aimed at finding the cause of and cure for multiple sclerosis.

Dick Albert, WCVB-TV Channel 5's meteorologist and long-term honorary chairman of the program, hosted the party. Mr. Albert was joined by Boston Bruin Ray Bourque, New England Patriot John Stephens and Suzanne Bates, co-anchor of WBZ-TV's "Live on 4."

First Lady Barbara Bush, who endorses this reading incentive campaign, said, "The ability to read, and to read well, can make all the difference between a limited life and a life full of options."

"My grateful thanks to the National Multiple Sclerosis Society for doing so much to promote reading and literacy."

Papa Gino's of America Inc., primary sponsor of the 1990 readathon campaign, provided pizza parties for the top five children in the top 50 schools throughout the state, presenting each with a community service plaque.

In addition, Papa Gino's provided each child who participated with a coupon for a slice of pizza, as well as considerable underwriting to the program.

All participants also received ice cream from Brigham's as well as Massachusetts Adventures coupons with free passes to Plimoth Plantation, the Boston Tea Party Ship, Hammond Castle, the New England Science Center in Worcester, the Basketball Hall of Fame, the New England Sports Center, Bay State Cruises, Battleship Cove, Boston Trolley Tours and the Boston Bolts Soccer Team.

Whalom Park, Water Wizz and Le Grand David Magic Show also donated free admission for top achievers, and the Polaroid Foundation donated cameras for top winners. Lauriat's Bookstores provides funding for storytellers to visit the top 20 schools in the state.

Multiple sclerosis is the most common neurological disease of young adults, Ms. Fink said. Its course is unpredictable, and the symptoms vary among individuals. Often, people with MS experience slurred speech, blurred vision and mobility problems.

Nationally, 200 people are diagnosed as having multiple sclerosis each week, and there are 6,000 people with MS in Massachusetts alone. MS is, at this time, neither curable nor preventable.

Bancroft School student
Jeffrey Kearns is recognized for reading 40 books to benefit the Massachusetts chapter of the Multiple Sclerosis Society. Behind him are chairpersons John Stephens, running back of the New England Patriots, and Suzanne Bates, co-anchor of WBZ-TV's "Live on 4."

Phillips Academy musicians rehearse summer concerts

Students and faculty of Phillips Academy's summer session music program will perform chamber music Monday and Tuesday, Aug. 6 and 7, at 6 p.m.

The concert will take place in the Timken Recital Room in Graves Hall on the PA campus.

The musicians will perform Schubert's "Trout Quintet," Beethoven's "Serenade," Stravinsky's "Septet," Mozart's "Piano and Wind Quintet" and Malcolm Arnold's "Trio."

The Academy Chamber Orchestra and Chorus will perform the final concert of the summer session music program Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 8 p.m. in Cochran Chapel.

The concert will feature Vivaldi's "Gloria" and Mendelssohn's "Symphony No. 5 'Reformation.'"

Allen Combs will direct the Academy Chorus and Faculty String Ensemble in "Gloria."

Mr. Combs, a graduate of the University of Idaho, is an instructor at the summer session and teaches PA's music survey course, as well as voice lessons, during the regular school year.

He has recently been appointed the new director of the Allen Combs Andover Choral Society, replacing George Redman.

The featured soloists in the "Gloria" are soprano Deanna Gibeau, soprano, mezzo-soprano Janice Yancy and alto Teresa Morgan.

Ms. Gibeau, a 1990 graduate of the University of Wisconsin at Madison, has been one of the 1989 and 1990 featured soloists in the concert series

William Thomas, far right, will lead the Phillips Academy Chamber Orchestra in the final concert of the summer session music program Tuesday, Aug. 7, at Cochran Chapel on the PA campus. The orchestra will be joined by the Academy Chorus in Vivaldi's "Gloria."

at Old Town Hall series sponsored by the Andover Historical Society and Phillips.

She studies voice with Kit Reuter-Foss and performs regularly with the Madison Arts Players, a chamber ensemble of eight voices and four instrumentalists.

Ms. Yancy, a regular chorister and soloist at Christ Church in Andover, has sung with the PA Community Chorus and has appeared as soloist with the Paul Madore Chorale of Salem, Mass.

A graduate of Bryant College, she has studied voice with Mr. Combs and Ivan Oak of the University of Lowell.

Ms. Yance is the office manager of Cochran Chapel at Phillips.

Ms. Morgan, a graduate of Boston University, has appeared often as a soloist at Phillips and Christ Church.

She has appeared throughout New England in recital with organist Earl L. Miller and, most recently, as soloist with the Merrimack Valley Philharmonic Society and Chorus Pro Musica of Boston.

Ms. Morgan is the soprano soloist at St. Michael's Episcopal Church in Marblehead and is an assistant in the Phillips music department.

The Academy Chamber Orchestra is under the direction of William Thomas, head of the chamber music program at PA.

Mr. Thomas received his bachelor degree from Oberlin Conservatory and his master's from Pennsylvania State University. He has completed 15 years as chairman of the Phillips music department.

The public is invited to attend these concerts, and there is no charge for admission.

Puppeteers bring shows to library

Free tickets for two puppet shows at Memorial Hall Library are available in the children's room.

Puppeteer and ventriloquist Susan Linn will perform "Will the Real Audrey Duck Stand Up?" Wednesday, Aug. 8, at 2 p.m.

"Children need to feel that they are worthwhile, special human beings," Ms. Linn said. "My puppets help to provide this experience."

Children will be encouraged to participate in all parts of the program, which is especially recommended for 3- to 6-year-olds.

The same week, another group of puppets will discuss the history of flight.

The Poobley Greegy Puppet Theater will perform "On Air - The First Flyers" Friday, Aug. 10, at 2 and 3:30 p.m.

Told from a scoffing pigeon's point of view, the show tells the story of the Wright Brothers' first powered aircraft in 1903, as well as other early experiments in flying.

These two shows are for 5- to 12-year olds.

Puppeteer Susan Linn has been on "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood."

The Poobley Greegy puppets will talk about the history of flight at Memorial Hall Library Aug. 10.

Archaeology museum has new director

James W. Bradley has been named director of the Robert S. Peabody Museum at Phillips Academy.

The announcement was made by Donald W. McNemar, headmaster of the 213-year-old school.

An archaeologist specializing in northeastern North America, Dr. Bradley has been on the staff of the Massachusetts Historical Commission in Boston for the past 11 years and has served as deputy state preservation officer since 1988. He will assume his duties in mid-September.

"We received inquiries from an outstanding field of candidates," Dr. McNemar said.

"James Bradley was the individual best suited to carry out the complementary objectives of maintaining the professional quality of the museum's resources and engaging Phillips Academy's faculty in developing the collection as a teaching resource. I am delighted that he has accepted the position."

Dr. Bradley called the Peabody Museum "one of the leading lights in American archaeology" for much of the past century, although it has been inactive for the past decade.

Dr. Bradley said the museum is recognized nationally for its historical contributions to archaeology and its collections and library.

"I consider myself an archaeologist as well as an educator and welcome the challenge of building archaeology and anthropology into the curriculum and directing the museum's reintegration into the academy and wider community," he said.

Dr. James W. Bradley will direct the Robert S. Peabody Museum of archaeology on the Phillips Academy campus.

A resident of Charlestown, Dr. Bradley received a bachelor of arts degree in history from Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa., and his master of arts and doctoral degrees in social sciences from Syracuse University's Maxwell School.

A recipient of numerous awards for distinction in the field of archaeology, he has written extensively, including a book on the evolution of the Onondaga Iroquois.

Dr. Bradley has held academic appointments at Boston University and the University of Massachusetts at Amherst.

He is a member of professional archaeological associations.

Skateboarders to compete

Lawrence Public Library will hold a street-style skateboard competition for Greater Lawrence youth Saturday, Aug. 4, at 11 a.m. at Pemberton Park.

The competition is co-sponsored by Catch the Wave skate shop in North Andover. For further details, call the library.

PA carillonneur rings out series

Sally Slade Warner, carillonneur of Phillips Academy, will play the final recital of the 14th annual summer carillon recital series sponsored by PA's summer session.

The program will take place Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 7 p.m., rain or shine.

Ms. Warner will perform requests submitted previously by listeners, as well as a selection of original carillon music and transcriptions from works for other musical media.

Phillips' Memorial Tower stands at the corner of Main Street (Route 28) and Salem Street on the academy's campus.

The best places to hear the bells are noted on the back of the printed program. Listeners can get the program from the stand at the tower door, along with a descriptive brochure on the carillon.

Cars may be parked along Salem Street or in the gymnasium parking lots. Listeners are invited to bring picnic suppers, blankets and lawn chairs.

The concert is free.

'Roger Rabbit' comes to Andover's Park Monday

The town's Department of Community Services will show "Who Framed Roger Rabbit?" Monday, Aug. 6, at dusk in The Park in front of the town office building on Bartlet Street.

Roger Rabbit's world is a cinematic universe where Daffy Duck and Donald Duck play a piano duet and walking broomsticks from Disney's "Fantasia" clean up a Hollywood sound stage.

The animated rabbit with big feet, long ears and a polka-dot tie enlists the help of detective Eddie Valiant, played by "live" actor Bob Hoskins.

The film is approximately 100 minutes long, and its rain date is Tuesday, Aug. 7.

Channel 12 repeats graduation

Due to the positive response, cable Channel 12 will repeat the South Elementary School certificate assembly and graduation Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 10 a.m. and 3 p.m.

"Weird Justice," created in a Kaleidoscope workshop of 10- to 12-year-olds, will break its own form of justice at 11:15 a.m. and 4:15 p.m. Tuesday.

Kingston concert series canceled

The summer concert series at the Kingston Concert Grounds in New Hampshire has been canceled.

Although tickets sales were good, according to promoter Dan Traficante, Kingston's business environment makes it "impossible to continue."

Refunds to all shows are available where the tickets were bought, Mr. Traficante added.

The series included concerts by Heart and Richard Marx.

Jewish Fellowship accepted into Reconstructionist group

The Andover Jewish Fellowship has been accepted as a member of the Federation of Reconstructionist Congregations and Havurot.

Based on the teachings of Mordecai

M. Kaplan, who died in 1983, Reconstructionism is the fourth and newest branch of Jewish practice. Reconstructionists are committed to preserving Jewish heritage through learning and interpreting traditions so they are meaningful within the context of contemporary life, said AJF member Marsha Cohen.

"While traditional forms of Jewish expression are respected, individual approaches to religious philosophy and practice are taken," Ms. Cohen said, such as the inclusion of new

Andover's 'climbingest church' to get elevator by October, builder says

Construction of the South Church elevator, which began June 17, is expected to be completed by mid-October, according to the builder.

The elevator will serve three floors of the church addition and the main floor of its sanctuary. It will have doors on two sides to better serve the levels.

"The building committee feels gratified that we have been able to start this much-needed project," said committee member Hooks K. Johnston in this week's church bulletin.

Mr. Johnston said a town-mandated fire alarm system for the church added $30,000 to the project.

"We have cash in hand to almost cover the total costs," he said.

But there's still a difference between what the committee has and what it needs. Congregants' donations to the elevator fund are always accepted.

"I'm sure we're paying more for the elevator than they paid for both the original church and the addition," said Senior Pastor Calvin F. Mutti.

The total cost of the project will run around $300,000, he said.

The original church structure on Central Street was built around the time of the Civil War, and an addition was put on in the 1950s. The elevator will be sandwiched between the two, Dr. Mutti said.

The price of the elevator will be worth it, not only for its practical uses, but for its message as well, the pastor said.

"It says that the church is committed to being an accessible community. The church's job is to set the pace, especially for those who, in an almost quiet, invisible way, have been shut out.

"If you're in a wheelchair and you look at a building like this, it prayers, poetry and song in religious observances.

The organization encourages participation by women and men from any Jewish background, as well as interfaith families, Ms. Cohen said.

Fellowship members enjoy social events, children's workshops and adult discussion groups and take an active part in the group's tzedakah (charity) efforts.

Holiday observances and services are organized by members and conducted by guest rabbis or rabbinical students.

AJF also offers an alternative to traditional Jewish education. Many parents and children are attracted by the small classes, Ms. Cohen said.

Residents of the Merrimack Valley are welcome to join the AJF and enroll children in the religion school.

Dues are $165 per family for the 1990-'91 year, which begins Sept. 1. School tuition is separate.

For information on membership or the school, call Steve Cohen at 470-2542.

says 'able-bodied people only, thank you.'"

Dr. Mutti said one woman, huffing and puffing at a wedding, told him: "This is the climbingest church I ever saw." The idea behind the new elevator isn't unlike a wedding vow, Dr. Mutti said.

"It says, 'The church is here for you, in sickness and health, in minor handicaps and in major handicaps.'"

BABY TALK

by Jack Resnick

If your baby is awake
a lot of the time and spends time alone,
he/she will get very bored. So you must make it more interesting with things to look at, swipe at and eventually touch in order to keep your baby as happy as possible. If he or she is used to sleeping on his or her stomach, try placing the child on his/her back with the carnage under a tree or near your dancing wash, or with lots of interesting objects hung close over his crib. Even interesting objects are no
replacement for people, so if your baby is awake
a lot, bring him into the family circle whenever possible.

Although she was left blind by an aneurysm 20 years ago and depended on her radio for information, she managed to keep up to date on politics, the Celtics and the former Boston Braves, her favorite team.

Mrs. Clinton's son, James W. Clinton Jr. of Lawrence, said she was heartbroken when the Braves left town. He added that she used to take him to see the team's doubleheaders.

She also took her son to the first Celtics championships game in 1957. Mrs. Clinton was the wife of the late James W. Clinton.

Besides her son, members of her family include a brother, the Rev. Stanley Smith O.S.A. of St. Augustine Church in Lawrence; a grandson, Stephen Michael Clinton of Glendale, Calif.; and a granddaughter, Bonnie-Sue Bajgrowicz of Salem, N.H.

A Mass was celebrated Saturday

Arrangements were by Pollard Funeral Home in Methuen.

Lena Laudani, 89

Born in Sicily

Lena (Bulla) Laudani, 89, of Methuen died Saturday, July 28, at Lawrence General Hospital.

Born in Sicily, she came to Lawrence at the age of 13.

Mrs. Laudani worked in the spinning room at Wood Mill until the business closed. She attended Holy Rosary Church.

Members of her family include a son, Salvatore "Lanny" Laudani of Hollis, N.H.; daughters, Carmela Scalera of Andover, Concettina Laudani of Methuen and Josephine Pasche of Methuen; six grandchildren; and several great- and great-great-grandchildren.

A Mass was held Tuesday at Holy Rosary Church. Burial was in Elmwood Cemetery.

Arrangements were by Cataudella Funeral Home in Lawrence.

Director talks about museum history

Peter Fetchko, director of the Peabody Museum of Salem, Mass., will present a gallery talk on the near 200-year history of the East India Marine Society, the museum's founding organization, Tuesday, Aug. 7, at 11 a.m.

Anthony J. Nicolosi, 76

Former security guard

Anthony J. Nicolosi, 76, of Methuen died Friday, July 27, at Lawrence General Hospital.

Born in Lawrence, he attended Lawrence schools and was a member of St. Lucy Parish in Methuen.

He worked at White Rose Laundry as a truck driver and was a milkman for Diamond Dairy. He also was a department supervisor for Malden Mills and a security guard at John T. Berry Rehabilitation Center until his retirement 12 years ago.

Mr. Nicolosi was a member of Sons of Italy Lawrence Lodge No. 902.

Members of his family include his wife, Florence (Volonino) Nicolosi; daughters, Nina Keleher and Phyllis Martin, both of Salem, N.H., and Elaine Costello of Lawrence; a brother, Joseph Nicolosi of Methuen, a retired Methuen fire chief; sisters, Agatina Vasta of Methuen, Carmela Salvati of Andover and Lucy Cafiso of Methuen; nine grandchildren; one great-grandson; and several nieces and nephews.

Burial was to be in Immaculate Conception Cemetery in Lawrence.

OBITUARIES

Frances L. Dalton, 86

Artist, teacher for 30 years

Frances L. Dalton, 86, of 70 Chestnut St. died Friday, July 27, at Academy Manor Nursing Home in Andover.

Born in Andover, she taught art in Andover public schools for more than 30 years and was the head of the school art department.

Her students won several awards, including the Boston Globe Scholastic Art Contest golden key awards, according to William J. Dalton, her nephew, who with his wife owns the Andover Bookstore.

"Each year her students would win more gold keys than the rest of the state combined," Mr. Dalton said.

Miss Dalton's religious beliefs were reflected in much of her work.

"She was deeply religious, but it wasn't really any part of organized religion, although she was a life-long Episcopalian," Mr. Dalton said.

One of her religious works, finished in the 1950s, was selected in 1982 for a national honor.

"The main focus of her life really was her art," Mr. Dalton said.

She was widely recognized in the art world, and her works had once been featured at the Addison Gallery, he said. Her works were also on display during the rededication ceremonies at Old Town Hall last year.

"Her portraits are probably in 300 or 400 houses in Andover. They're at the high school," Mr. Dalton said.

"There's not a week that goes by that somebody doesn't come by and say, 'You know, I have one of your aunt's paintings.'"

"She was fabulous," said Norma Gammon, a student of Miss Dalton's at the old Punchard High School before going on to become a teacher herself.

"That's why I went to art school, because of Frances Dalton," Ms. Gammon said.

Ms. Gammon went to the Museum of Fine Arts school in Boston just as Miss Dalton had before her. She also did her student teaching under Miss Dalton in Andover.

"She was just a real leader in the art field. Andover was extremely lucky to have her," Ms. Gammon said.

"She was a character, too," her former student said.

Miss Dalton was always cold and wore two sweaters, Ms. Gammon said. She also liked to wear sneakers that matched her sweater, so she kept different pairs in her desk and would change them as she did her sweaters.

Jim Batchelder, another former student and now an art teacher at Andover High, praised his mentor.

"She was an incredible teacher. She changed the way we looked at things," Mr. Batchelder said.

"I will teach you how to see," Mr. Batchelder quoted his teacher. "And she did."

"I think in my graduating class she put seven or eight of us in art school."

Mr. Batchelder related a story he'd Frances Dalton holds a self-portrait.

heard about Miss Dalton.

During the beatnik craze in the late '50s and early '60s, many students wanted to wear all black to school. One day, in an effort to stop them, a school official met the students in front of the building sending those dressed in black to the auditorium.

Miss Dalton, who often dressed in black and wore sunglasses herself, was not recognized and, doing as she was told, went off with the students. It was a little while before the principal arrived and recognized his teacher being berated along with the rest of the students.

"I think all of our lives were changed because we had her," Mr. Batchelder said.

Miss Dalton began painting after she graduated from Punchard High School. She completed the eight-year program at the Museum of Fine Arts in seven years.

She won the Paige Traveling Scholarship at age 25 and went to Europe for two and a half years to continue her studies. From 1930 to 1932 she painted in England, Italy, Spain, France, Holland and Belgium.

It was while she was living in Spain that she began to paint children.

Miss Dalton returned to the United States in 1933 and settled in New York where she painted children's portraits for the well to do.

After three years, she returned to her widowed mother and the family homestead on Chestnut Street. Her mother, Mary Dalton, ran a little grocery store called Hood's Creamery on Main Street.

Miss Dalton taught art in her studio at 20 School St.

Members of her family include nephews. Besides William J. Dalton, they are Charles F. Dalton Jr., an attorney, and Robert M. Dalton, both of Andover, and Jack Hathaway of Woodstown, N.J. She was also the sister of the late Harry, Charles and William Dalton.

Burial was to be in West Parish Cemetery.

Memorial contributions may be made to the Charles "Chad" Dalton III Scholarship Fund, care of Dalton Law Offices, 1 Dundee Park, Andover, Mass. 01810. Arrangements were by John Caron Funeral Home in North Andover.

Marion B. Cole, 94

Former librarian

Marion B. Barnard Cole, 94, of 16 High St., died Tuesday, July 31, at Lawrence General Hospital after a short illness.

She was born in Andover on Aug. 6, 1895. She was the daughter of Henry W. and Mabel (Paradise) Barnard.

Mrs. Cole was a lifelong resident of Andover. She graduated from Abbot Academy in 1915 and from Pine Manor School in 1916.

She was a librarian for several years in Springfield and Walpole.

On May 10, 1921, she married Arthur W. Cole, also of Andover. Mr. Cole died in 1981.

Mrs. Cole was a member of the November Club, the Andover Garden Club and the Andover Historical Society.

She was also a 77-year member of South Church in Andover where she served as deaconess.

Members of her family include a son, Donald B. Cole of Exeter, N.H., professor emeritus at Phillips Exeter Academy; a daughter, Constance W. Cole of Andover, who taught first grade for many years at Pike School; four grandchildren, Douglas B. Cole of Woodinville, Wash., Robert W. Cole of Hooksett, N.H., Daniel W. Cole of Exeter and Susan Cole Ross of Windsor, Conn.; and five great-grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held Friday, Aug. 3, at 11 a.m. at South Church. Burial will follow in West Parish Cemetery in Andover.

Relatives and friends may call today, Thursday, from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. at Edgerley and Bessom Andover Funeral Home, 33 Pearson St.

Memorial contributions may be made to South Church, 41 Central St., Andover, Mass. 01810.

James E. Smith, 49

Sister in Andover

James E. Smith, 49, died Tuesday, July 31, at Holy Family Hospital after being stricken with a heart attack at his home in Methuen.

He was born in Lawrence.

Members of his family include his wife of 26 years, Claudette I. (Berube) Smith, and a sister, Jean Lynch of Andover.

A Mass will be celebrated today, Thursday, at 10 a.m. at Mary Queen of Peace Church in Salem, N.H. At the request of the family there will be no calling hours.

Funeral arrangements are by Dewhurst and Conte Funeral Home in North Andover.

A more complete obituary will appear in next week's Townsman.

TOWNTALK

When Dorothy Faith Nelson returned to Andover to be the maid of honor for her friend's wedding, she had a lot of catching up to do.

Ms. Nelson, daughter of John H. and Barbara R. Nelson of Moultonborough, N.H., former 22-year residents of Andover, was back in town June 9 for the wedding of her best friend from Andover High School, Myriam "Mimi" Tambasco, with whom she graduated in 1986.

Ms. Nelson's mother wrote to say Dorothy was able to see a lot of her school friends while she was in Andover. She added that her daughter's been very busy since her high school graduation.

The younger Nelson finished her studies at Plymouth State College in May on the college president's list, having earned all A's. She received a bachelor of science degree in psychology and is employed in her field at Highwatch in Effingham, N.H.

She's also planning a wedding herself. Ms. Nelson is engaged to Robert Michael Boyan III, whom she will marry next June. Mr. Boyan is also a graduate of Plymouth State.

The other scholar in the Nelson family, Dorothy's brother, John Richmond, will be a senior at Moultonborough Academy in the fall.

Race car driver Karl Fredrickson of 16 Arundel St. won his first-ever feature race at Star Speedway in Epping, N.H., July 14.

Mr. Fredrickson was racing in the street stock division in a custom Camaro.

Next time you're at town offices, stop in the town clerk's office and congratulate Flevia Low on becoming a United States citizen. Ms. Low, an assistant researcher in the clerk's office for the past two years, was officially sworn in Thursday during a ceremony at the National Guard headquarters in Reading.

Her co-workers at town offices held a reception for Ms. Low Friday afternoon, July 27, to celebrate her citizenship.

Ms. Low lived in Newton when she first came to the U.S. in November of 1986. She later married and in 1988 she and her husband, Peter, moved to a home on Beacon Street to be nearer his work at AT&T in North Andover.

Jeff Chiang of Andover qualified for the U.S. Pro Tennis Championships at Longwood. This was the first time Mr. Chiang qualified for a Grand Prix tournament. Previously he had been competing in the satellite circuit, one step

Kids are sweeping Andover's school halls

By Lisa A. Boudreau

The town's eight school buildings may appear empty during the summer when classes aren't in session, but looks can be deceiving. Inside there are maintenance and cleaning crews readying the schools for the fall.

A few Andover students return to the schools each summer, but not for classes. They're part of the custodial staff that cleans, vacuums and polishes the buildings. The town employs about 15 teen-agers to help the regular custodial staff, said Lee Winchell, supervisor of the schools' custodial staff.

The summer crew consists of current Andover High students, AHS alumni, who are back in town during their summer break from college, and a few out-of-town teen-agers.

Some of the kids have worked for him for the past three or four summers, said Mr. Winchell.

Pete Stansfield, a 1990 Andover High graduate, has worked as a summer helper for the past three years. This year he is assigned to Andover High School.

"For me the hours are great," said Mr. Stansfield, who also works a second summer job. He works an evening shift at DeMoulas market to earn money for college in the fall. He plans to enter the culinary arts program at Essex Agricultural School in September.

The summer help works from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday and is paid $6 per hour, said Mr. Winchell.

John Teichert, a senior at the high school, has worked in the schools during the summer for the past two years. He also likes the hours and said he was glad to get his old job back.

"I looked for other summer jobs, but they were hard to get. The money here is good and you're finished by three," he said.

Mr. Stansfield and Mr. Teichert work with Todd Allard, a junior at Andover High.

This is Mr. Allard's first summer working for the schools. So far Mr. Allard said he's enjoyed it.

"The work isn't too hard and you get to meet people and make some friends. It's actually kind of fun," he said.

Last summer he worked at the town's baseball camp. This year he was looking for an inside job and the custodial work fit the bill.

"You have to wake up early, but you're out by the early afternoon. You have plenty of time to lift weights and then go out at night," said Mr. Allard.

Most of the projects the summer crews involve moving furniture, cleaning walls, ceilings, windows and floors.

Some jobs are less appealing than others, said Mr. Stansfield.

"Chipping the gum off the chairs and desks is what I hate," he said.

Like any new employee, the three students had to get to know the regular staff.

They said everyone at their building gets along well.

Parris Sheperd, one of the program's five female participants, works at the Doherty Middle School. Ms. Sheperd, a junior at Andover high, heard about the summer custodial jobs for student and decided to apply.

"It seemed like it would be an easy job so I decided why not," she said.

Ms. Sheperd said she hasn't been disappointed. Moving large pieces of furniture hasn't been too difficult, because everybody lends a hand with the bigger, heavier loads, she said.

"It's really not that hard. You're busy, but that's OK. It makes the time go by quicker," she said.

Penguin Park may be operational at new Shawsheen site by this coming weekend

By Don Staruk

Penguin Park may open at its new location on the upper Shawsheen soccer fields by this weekend, according to Buzz Stapczynski, town manager.

"We expect to have the perimeter wall and fencing up this week if everything goes ahead as scheduled," Mr. Stapczynski said Monday afternoon. "Our goal is to have it opened by the weekend."

The tot lot was constructed on Iceland Road in May with funds raised by town residents. Limited parking and dangerous traffic conditions caused town officials last month to order the playground equipment moved to the new site.

Town workers have been removing the playground equipment from the Iceland Road site and reconstructing it on the Shawsheen field for the past two weeks.

Mr. Stapczynski said he doesn't know what the total cost of the move will be.

"We'll know when we're done," he said.

In related news, the town manager said he is sympathetic to arguments for playground equipment in other areas of town.

"My long-term goal is to place appropriate play equipment in all the neighborhood parks," he said.

He mentioned Ballardvale and Cuba Street as two playgrounds in particular where new equipment is needed.

He also mentioned that the purchase of any new equipment would depend on available funding.

Hospice announces graduates of volunteer program

Merrimack Valley Hospice, a non-profit subsidiary of the Home Health Foundation of Andover, recently announced the graduation of the spring 1990 volunteer training class. Volunteers in the program take part in a 30-hour training, which prepares them to assist Hospice patients and families in a comprehensive Hospice care program. After completing training, volunteers provide four to six hours a week of respite care,

Local man pleads guilty to rape and other charges

By Don Staruk

David Ainscow, 21, of 59 Lovejoy Road, pleaded guilty Friday in Salem Superior Court to charges of rape of a child, burglary and assault in connection with two incidents in Andover in 1989.

A third charge, exhibition of a child in a state of sexual contact, was filed.

Judge John T. Ronan sentenced Mr. Ainscow to 10 to 12 years in jail, two to be served and the remainder suspended, and five years probation.

Mr. Ainscow was sentenced to serve the two years at the Cedar Junction state correctional institute at Walpole and will be required to undergo psychiatric treatment, according to a court official.

Mr. Ainscow was arrested on Sept. 11, 1989, as a result of an investigation into two separate incidents.

The burglary charge stemmed from a July 7, 1989 incident on Cherokee Circle.

Mr. Ainscow allegedly masked himself, entered a one-story Cherokee Street home through a window, and assaulted a woman resident in her bed. The woman defended herself and her attacker fled from the bedroom, down a hallway and back out the same window he had entered, according to police.

During the investigation of the burglary, detectives Donald Pattullo and David Grant became aware of their suspect's possible involvement in a rape and assault case from an incident in January of 1989.

In that incident, Mr. Ainscow allegedly forced a 15-year-old girl to pose nude in pornographic visual material, according to police. Mr.

Ainscow had been involved in a girlfriend/boyfriend relationship with the girl, police said at the time.

On Sept. 11 detectives searched Mr. Ainscow's parents' home on Lovejoy Road where they found knives and assorted martial arts weapons. The weapons included several pairs and assorted sizes of nunchakus, ninja claws, an open glove with claws, throwing stars, a homemade cross bow, and knives.

minutes before the robbery. The clerk, "a young Merrimack College fellow," called Mr. Webb at his home and told him he'd been robbed, according to the store owner.

The knife was about 18 inches long including the handle, "so it was about a 12-inch blade," Mr. Webb said.

The robber was in his late 20s or early 30s and had the weapon hidden in his shorts, Mr. Webb said.

Mr. Webb, who has owned the spa for 10 years, said he had never been robbed before Saturday.

"First time in 10 years," he said.

Andover police said Monday they are investigating the holdup.

A similar holdup occurred Monday in Reading and the same suspect may be involved, according to police.

AIDS Action offers various supplies

AIDS Action of Andover has established a new service for people living with AIDS. The organization, working with the local Visiting Nurse Association and Red Cross, will supply PLWA's with furniture, supplies and food in time of need.

AIDS Action's small task force hopes to recruit additional volunteers to assist with:

- Pickup and delivery of goods (volunteers with vans or trucks for large pieces of furniture);
- Preparation of one-person meals that can be frozen until needed and baking of cookies for the AIDS support group;
- Driving patients to doctor appointments;
- Publicizing AIDS Action's needs.

Pots and pans are needed at the present. If you would like to help, call 470-2626.

AIDS Action of Andover sponsors a support group for people touched by AIDS. The group meets at Christ Church on Central Street the first, third and fifth Thursdays of every month from 7 to 9 p.m. Call Leslie at 686-1010 for further information about the support group.

Walkers and runners raise money for Creative Living

Nearly 200 runners and walkers and many other volunteers turned out last month to participate in a five-mile road race that raised funds for a local community group.

Sponsored for the third consecutive year by the Greater Lawrence Activities Directors (GLAD), the race benefitted Creative Living Inc., a non-profit group that has established a residence for adult retarded citizens in Greater Lawrence.

Both walkers and runners began the race at the Prescott Nursing Home in North Andover. Awards were given for winners immediately following the race.

Many nursing home residents and employees and volunteers from Creative Living were on hand to register participants, direct traffic, and man water stations. Each participant received a special GLAD race T-shirt.

Nursing homes sponsoring the GLAD Five-Mile Road Race included Anlaw, Berkeley, Broadway, German Home, Henry C. Nevins Home, Prescott House, Stevens Hall, Town Manor and Woodmill. Many area businesses also added their support.

The Greater Lawrence Activities Directors (GLAD) is a group of professionals who plan and coordinate programs for residents in area nursing homes. The group meets to share ideas and host events, including the Harvest Ball. GLAD donated all proceeds of the road race to Creative Living, Inc.

Creative Living, Inc., active in Greater Lawrence for several years, strives to ensure that mentally retarded citizens who have always lived with their families will have a home when their parents or family can no longer care for them.

DCS playgrounds list the week's activities

The following reports were filed by the counselors at the town's various playground programs:

Sanborn

Week five at Sanborn has been great so far. The birds will be well fed with pine cone bird feeders made by the Moffits, Kristen and Susie, Rich LaFranchi, and Adam Turbett. Wednesday was rainy but eventful with two great movies and skits put on by Julie and Ellen Mullane, Jenna and Greg Hartwell, and Hillary Schofield. Water Country should be held Thursday or Friday and promises to be wet and wild!

South

Monday started off the week with pizza day. Rocky Tradd, Zach Smith, Jon Germain, Pat Callison, Andrea Catanzaro, and Kim McKew took part in the feast. John Thompson and Balaku Paul created rock pets. Bird feeders were Tuesday's highlight. Emily Reynolds made a feeder that birds would love to eat from. Erin Collins crafted and taught others the art of pom-pom making. Wednesday's Water Country trip was cancelled so the field trip people stayed at camp and had a fun day of baseball, goalie wars, shipwreck, and floor hockey. Stars of the day were Bryan, Sean, and Michael Murphy, Timmy and Michael Sheehy, Zach Smith, Jon Germain, Phobe, Maddy, Sophie, and Elspeth Eustis, John Thompson, Rosie Grabowski and Balaku Paul.

Bancroft

This week at Bancroft was an eventful one. Pizza day brought out the pigs in all of us, with Sean Gilbride, Rudy, Tony, and Jackie Morando out eating the big kids. Kelly Moore, Mike Shannon, and Lynn and Amy Arsenault broke world records by making at least 600 bird feeders. Mike Orlando grossed us all out by eating the birdfeeders. Water Country was a splash. Tammy Taggart, Ashley Plummer and Kaitlin Doyle were superb on the Geronimo. Friday was cookout day with extreme amounts of smoke and fun. Thanks to all our volunteers for helping.

West

The beginning of the week started with pizza. Twelve were consumed with the help of Kristen and Billy DeLuca, Michael Kelly and Peter Zetlan. Tuesday we had our first rainy day. While the boys played in the gym, the girls danced in the rain. Michelle Ferguson, Rachel Hartman, and Tara Cataldo were soaked from head to toe. Wednesday was another rainy day. We watched Uncle Buck with a great game of dodge ball, with star players Ben Bradway and Ben Levister. The remainder of the week consisted of Barnyard Holler, Playdough creations, and a car wash.

HaKowWee

Week number five at Camp HaKowWee started with an exciting game of soccer ending in a 2-2 tie. Outstanding players were Rohan Joshi, Andrew McDonald, Jeff Webber, Matt Gilmore, Jon Anderson, Jen Taylor, Stephen Stone, Eric Jenike, Stephanie Buck, Robin Hall, Jackie Craven and Brock Bouchard. Soccer was followed by Barnyard Holler with Oliver Brown, Michael Burton, Adam Caterino, Chris Costello, John Edwards, Jeff Hall, Hemant Joshi, Lydia Kardos, David McDonald, and Noboru Tskuda enjoying the sweets. Tuesday was Pajama Day. Marty Karim, Alysson Slopes, Jason Shaw, Danny Micheline, Matt Donohue, Joel Anderson, David Irvine, Sarah Kolitz, Christina Kipers and Andrew McDonald enjoyed the pancake breakfast. Wallets were made by James Micheline, Jimmy Anderson, Jeff Irvine and Jonathan Kipers. Wednesday the Water Country field trip was rained out. Thursday we made salt jars and Friday we ended the week with tie dye and a cookout.

Sheehee/Shawnee

Week five went great at Camp Shee-Hee/Shaw-Nee. Monday started with sandpaper-yarn pictures. Danielle Cohen, Mathew McDermitt, Alyssa Traub, Rachel Adams and Stephanie Rummel made some beautiful designs.

Tissue paper art was the special project for Tuesday. Elissa Slovin, Lauren Marsh, Sarah Donelan, Jake Christopher and Tommy Haugh created very pretty pictures. Mary Margaret Reilly, Michelle Chandler, Rachael Dyke and Nina Morency-Brassard also made butterflies. On Wednesday we made sock puppets. Paul Vincent Chiozzi, Jonathan Papas, Andrew Tonelli, Laura Hoffman and Michael Haugh made very creative puppets. Elliot Siegel, Alliane Hughes, Kristina Moegelin and Patrick Twomey made great foam art pictures Thursday. Samantha Lederline-Paskal, Scott Smith, Alexander Marsh, Michael Donohue and Ari Goldschneider enjoyed eating cookies.

Attorney to speak on living wills

By Mary A. Byrne

Attorney Paul Twomey will be at the Senior Center Thursday, Aug. 9, at 1 p.m. He will discuss the "living will." Massachusetts law currently makes no provision for such a document.

Tickets for the Aug. 16 chicken barbecue at the Senior Center are going quickly. Ticket cost is $6. Chet will provide the music. Registration for commodity foods will be held Wednesday, Aug. 15, at the Senior Center from 10 a.m. to noon. Call us at 470-3830 if you have questions about qualifying.

The film series will feature "The King and I" today at 1 p.m. and "For Me and My Gal" tomorrow at 9:30 a.m.

Nest week's films will be "Honey, I Shrunk the Kids" on Thursday, Aug. 9, at 1 p.m. and "Children of a Lesser God" on Friday, Aug. 10, at 9:30 a.m.

EDITORIALS

It's a good thing

Phillips Academy sent a valuable message recently to a group of students in a writing workshop: Writing is fun; writing is valuable.

One of the students, Jackie Louis, who will be a senior at Boston Latin Academy in the fall, learned her lesson well. When it came her turn last Friday to read one of her pieces to the standing-room-only crowd, Ms. Louis said, "I looked down and they were all listening."

And then, to explain why she wasn't nervous, she said, "If they're listening, I must have something good to say."

Everyone has something good to say. It's just that many of us haven't the tools we need to say it. At Phillips' Bread Loaf Writing Workshop, young and not-so-young practice what we all need to learn to write better — they wrote, they wrote and then they wrote some more.

The encouraging thing is, some of the Bread Loaf students were teachers from primary and secondary schools who wanted to be agents of change within their classrooms, according to Lou Bernieri, director of the workshop here as well as chairman of Phillips' English department.

Today's children are being brought up with calculators that multiply and divide for them. And we have computers that will clank and boing at us when we misspell a word. Add to those tools that render us passive the amount of television some people watch today and we have a frightening situation — a society full of many who cannot read or write.

It is good that Phillips Academy is doing its share of teaching reading. We are listening. And so are many others.

And by the way, it's is a contraction meaning it is or it has. It's a lovely day. It's been a long time. It's is the possessive form of the neuter pronoun. The dog is scratching its fur.

Ipswich librarian agrees with Andover

Editor Townsman:

Fifth-graders have been making forays into adult areas of a public library for generations. I suggest that the majority of such explorations are more in the nature of a rite of passage than a search for additional sources for a report. A question of appropriateness must be addressed. Certainly the Lyndon Johnson biographies by Robert Caro are not suitable.

Those youngsters whose intellectual curiosity is no longer challenged by the children's library do indeed have a mechanism for access to the whole collection: It is current library policy which permits access by pass or in the company of an adult. It does not, however, grant blanket, unlimited freedom to roam the library at will.

The trustees and staff of the library should be commended for protecting the investment of the town in a functional, modern, well-stocked library facility so as to ensure its full utilization by all ages as well as for future generations of Andover people.

Gillette and Raytheon shouldn't be in South Africa

Editor, Townsman:

Apartheid, the government system currently in place in South Africa, denies 85 percent of the country's population the rights of citizenship that we take for granted: Black South Africans are forced to live in squalor on homeland settlements or in ghetto-like townships where they are denied the right to vote. Black children are educated in an inferior school system separate from that of white children where they are forced to speak Afrikaans, the language of their oppressors. Lacking quality education and confined to impoverished areas, black South Africans are trapped in a cycle of low wages and poverty.

As Massachusetts residents, we can take pride in the fact that our state has been at the forefront of the antiapartheid movement for the past 20 years, beginning with Polaroid's divestment in 1969. In 1983 Governor Dukakis signed an executive order prohibiting state agencies from obtaining goods and services originating in South Africa and discouraging the state from entering into contracts with vendors doing business with South Africa.

Despite our state's strong antiapartheid record, two companies with branches in Andover still conduct business with South Africa: Gillette operates two South African operations, which sell such products as shaving preparations and toothbrushes. Raytheon retains a 15 percent ownership in a South African firm that holds contracts for petroleum exploration and processing.

Companies continuing business with South Africa claim that they serve as model businesses and thus advocate social change. Yet supporters of divestment, as quoted from The Boston Globe ("Mass. firms still in S. Africa," 6/24/90) argue "such explanations mask a starkly simple reason for corporate resistance to divestment: money." While Raytheon and Gillette may be profiting from their businesses in South Africa, they are supporting an already crippled economy. "There are no profits for business in a disintegrating society, in the midst of civil disorder, violence and racial antagonism."

South Africa is so deeply entrenched in its system of apartheid that change will be a long and sporadic process. Raytheon and Gillette thus have little chance of instigating major social change in South Africa's current struggles. However, as ethical businesses it is their obligation to divest. If you are concerned about the issue of apartheid and recognize divestment as an effective means of protest, I urge you to write Raytheon and Gillette and encourage them to take this important step.

Urges town to offer more child-care programs

Editor, Townsman:

I am writing to urge the new town manager to initiate a "Kids Club" program to operate at a selected elementary school or schools this school year.

One year has nearly passed since the Department of Community Services received approval to offer a pilot before- and after-school enrichment program at West Elementary School. It has been over four years since the League of Women Voters studied the issue of child care and a parents group began to meet to develop a plan for after school child care in the schools. With the participation of Joan Pearson, then director of DCS, and Sidney Bialo, the director of the extended day program at the Shawshen School, members of this group attended seminars on the subject, studied available programs, held exploratory meetings with town and school personnel and visited the elementary schools to assess site feasibility.

With this information in hand, DCS then developed a plan to create before- and after-school enrichment programs called "kids clubs." Last summer Ms. Pearson made two presentations outlining the specifics of this plan to the School Committee. This committee raised no objection to implementing such a pilot program at West Elementary, viewing the activities as another DCS after-school program. With the approval of town officials, Ms. Pearson advertised for a program coordinator. Present DCS staff have made earnest efforts to get authorization to proceed with the pilot program. Instead, another round of school and town assessments has been required and the state has enacted new licensure requirements applicable to such an after-school program. As a result, it is my understanding there presently are no plans to initiate any pilot kids club program this fall.

An after-school enrichment program would greatly benefit the residents of Andover. These benefits include providing quality before- and after-school care for children in grades 1-5, care which surely is preferable to "latch-key children," offering children in these grades enrichment programs which are not now offered by the school system, benefiting the school system by providing income for use of the school buildings after hours and reducing the problems associated with children dropped off before school hours or picked up late, benefiting teachers by offering them opportunities for earning additional income, providing peace of mind to parents who are working, fostering positive family interactions by reducing the stress and tensions associated with inadequate child care and making Andover a more attractive community to prospective home buyers. (Town sponsored after-school child-care programs are offered by nearly all neighboring and comparable Boston-area communities.)

The need for quality child care is real and will continue to grow in today's troubled economy. The recent example of the registration for SHED (the extended day kindergarten program) exemplifies this need. Not only did parents start lining up at 10 a.m. for a 6 p.m. sign-up, many leaving work early to do so, but at least one parent I know believed quality, affordable child care was so essential to his family that he flew back from a business trip to Europe a day early to register his child.

For these reasons I urge the town to hire a program coordinator for the kids clubs as soon as possible.

More on owls

Editor, Townsman:

Since woodchucks feed exclusively by day while owls hunt exclusively by night, I find Cathy Pierce's statement (Letters, July 26, 1990) that owls are a natural enemy of woodchucks not only unnatural, but completely incredible. What saved her garden was that the day she hung up her plastic owl, the offending woodchuck was run over by a non-plastic 10-wheeler. The only certain way to protect any garden from woodchucks is to hop on one's left foot, backwards under the midnight sun three times around the plot while facing always into the wind.

Recycling head says thanks

Editor, Townsman:

Andover Recycling Inc. would like to thank the people of Andover who have participated in our recycling program for 20 years. You have patiently and consistently supported our efforts to improve our environment, save valuable tax dollars and educate our youth.

We would also like to thank our present paper contractor, Greg Graham, who has for the past five years given us excellent service. He has cooperated in every way with our efforts to expand our service to apartment complexes and many schools. His pleasant nature and dedication to recycling have been invaluable to the success of our program. On behalf of the townspeople of Andover, we thank you, Greg, for a job well done!

The individual members of Andover Recycling Inc. are due many thanks also. The goal of our organization has always been not only to run the recycling program for the town, but also to expand the service through education of the public so that the town would initiate a comprehensive recycling program. Each member took on specific tasks, be it volunteering at the glass and plastic bins, following pertinent legislation, keeping our accounting books, writing articles, or speaking with school groups, to name a few. You all worked together and accomplished our goal. It's an exciting day to see Andover move forward with its own comprehensive mandatory recycling program!

Our organization will become an advisory committee to assist the town with their program. We will continue to supply volunteers to assist Dave White in his plastic collection service that he will offer every third Saturday and to assist Everett Penney in the motor oil collection service every second Wednesday and Saturday. We continue to welcome interested citizens to participate in our efforts.

Your support has meant the success of recycling in Andover. I hope you will continue to monitor the state of our environment and work toward a comprehensive recycling program that is responsive to the needs of the people of Andover.

Thank you.

Marine White completes infantry training

Marine Pvt. Robert J. White of Colonial Drive has completed the school of Infantry during a course conducted at Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

He received classroom instruction and participated in field exercises involving infantry tactics, the construction and camouflage of fighting positions, the use of mines and other demolitions and inter-company communications equipment.

Pvt. White joined the Marine Corps Reserves in December 1989.

Area agency to offer substance abuse outpatient counseling

Dorothy Hammond, president of the board of Family Service Association of Greater Lawrence, announces that the agency has been awarded a license by the Department of Public Health to operate a substance abuse outpatient counseling service.

This license ensures that the agency has met the provisions and requirements of the state to provide a quality and standardized program.

"The agency sought licensing in substance abuse treatment because of the dramatic increase in drug and alcohol use which has affected more and more families in our communities," said Mrs. Hammond.

FSAGL is also licensed as an outpatient mental health clinic. It also provides employee assistance programs, outreach to the elderly, the Hispanic education series, training program in social services for minority workers and the PEP (People Educating People) program at the Frost and Olivers schools in Lawrence.

Blue team finishes season undefeated

Joe Iarrobino's Blue team finished first in the Suburban Pony League and completes an undefeated season. The Blue has won 29 in a row, including the last 11 in the 1989 season. Over the last three years the Blue has won 57 and lost three for a percentage of 950.

In 1990 the team batting average is .354 and the Blue has averaged better than 12 runs per game while holding their opponents to less than four. The pitching has been outstanding as the team earned run average is 2.23 and the staff averages a mere three walks per game.

Gus Quattelbaum leads the team in hitting with Justin Hesenius right behind. Hesenius also leads in runs batted in and slugging percentage. Every starter in the Blue lineup is hitting 300 or better.

Quattelbaum and Hesenius pace the pitching staff with six wins each and Scot Henry has the best earned run average of 1.17.

Andover Blue 17 - Lynnfield 10

The solid hitting of Jeff Lembo, three hits, and Toby Guzowski (two hits) helped Peter Murphy gain his first win with the Blue and Josh Nelken pitched well in relief to pick up the save. With one out in the first Toby Guzowski singled, stole second and scored on Hesenius' base hit. Hesenius scored on Quattelbaum's single. Quattelbaum stole second and third, Andy Novelline walked, stole second and both scored on Jeff Lembo's base hit to get the Blue off to a 4-1 lead.

Murphy led off in the second with a base hit, Nelken walked and Murphy rode home on Guzowski's single. Hesenius and Quattelbaum reached with Nelken scoring and three runs scored on an error on Matt Wolcott's hit to right field. Wolcott scored on Novelline's sacrifice fly and Blue led 10-1. The Lynnfield team scored six in the fourth before Josh Nelken put out the fire. Novelline and Lembo scored in the fourth on Nelkin's two-run single. In the sixth Lembo singled, Steve Sinkor walked and Dana McCann singled, Quattelbaum walked, Rob Derba singled and the Blue scored four more.

This win clinched first place for the fourth consecutive year. The Blue put this tight game away with seven runs in the third and Justin Hesenius hit a

American Legion Post wins, moves into state quarterfinals

By Rick Harrison

One month ago the Andover American Legion Post 8 baseball team was struggling to stay above the .500 mark, waiting for its talent to kick in and push the club into overdrive.

The wakeup call came in the sixth game of the season at Fraser Field in Lynn, and Zone 8-A champ Andover eventually went all the way to the state tournament quarterfinals before being ousted by perennial powerhouse Norwood in a best-of-3 series last weekend.

Norwood Post 70, state champs under legendary coach Peter Wall in 1985, '86 and '87, slugged Andover 16-2 in their rubber game last Sunday after the rivals had split three earlier contests.

The first game of the series ended in a 10-inning 5-5 tie and, under Legion rules, had to be replayed in its entirety. Norwood won the replay, 4-2, then lost game two to Chris Eggert 6-1 before ending Andover's season with the Sunday romp.

Post 8 was 2-3 when it traveled to Lynn to face an undefeated (7-0) Post 6 squad, ironically on the same field where the Andover High varsity team's dreams of a first-ever state Division 1 championship had been shattered by New Bedford less than three weeks earlier.

Unbeaten lefthander Eggert, who finished the summer 7-0 for Post 8 and 15-0 including the high school season, fired a four-hitter with nine strikeouts that evening as Post 8 turned its season around with a 3-2 triumph.

Andover, which closed out the campaign 14-8-1 overall, went 11-3 after Lynn and before Norwood, inexplicably stumbling only to a weak Haverhill team (twice) and to archrival Lawrence Post 15 once.

"After winning the Merrimack Valley Conference and North Sectional championships, and coming within one victory of playing in the state final, I think our kids had an understandable letdown at the beginning of the Legion season," offered first-year head coach Joe Iarrobino.

"All but four of our players are from that Andover High team, which put together a great (20-4) season, and it just took them six games to get going.

"This is a very talented team and a great group to work with," added Iarrobino.

After beating Lynn, Post 8 won seven of its next eight starts to climb back into a three-way tie for first place in the Zone 8-A standings with Lawrence and Methuen. Capping this successful run was a double-header sweep three Saturdays ago, a 3-2 afternoon victory over Methuen followed by a 7-3 under-the-lights triumph over Lawrence.

Merrimack Valley Pirates swim their way to ninth overall at championships

The Merrimack Valley Pirates competed in the New England Age Group Championships at Harvard last weekend and placed ninth in the combined standings in a field of 45 teams. Melissa Schofield and Kurt Leslie led the team with gold medal performances.

Schofield, swimming in the 13-14 age group, won the 1500 meter freestyle, placed second in the 800 free, fourth in the 200 free, fifth in the 400 free, seventh in the 50 free, eighth in the 100 and 200 meter backstrokes and 100 free and ninth in the 200 meter individual medley. She placed fifth in the high point trophy standings in her age group.

Leslie, competing in the 15-18 class, captured the gold in the 50 and 100 meter freestyle events. He also placed ninth in the 100 meter butterfly.

In the 9-10 age group, Kevin Riley was third in the 50 back, fifth in the 200 free, eighth in the 200 I.M., ninth in the 100 meter breaststroke, tenth in the 100 fly and 13th in the 100 free. Dan O'Neill was 14th in the 50 meter breaststroke.

Swimming in the 11-12 class, Diana Liberty finished third in the 400 meter freestyle, fifth in the 200 free, eighth in the 100 free and 16th in the 200 I.M.

Kaity McLaughlin was 14th in the 400 free and 200 I.M. and 15th in the 200 free. She and Liberty teamed with Jessica Janiak and Kathy O'Neill for a seventh place finish in the freestyle relay.

David Green placed 12th in the 100 meter breaststroke and 14th in the 50 breaststroke while David Howe was 12th in the 400 free. They were joined by Mark Schofield and David Foley for a sixth-place finish in the free relay.

Kristen Perrault, also swimming 13-14, was fourth in the 800 meter free, seventh in the 400 free, 12th in the 1500 free and 16th in the 200 meter butterfly. The team of Sarah Knowles, Nichelle Peake, Perrault and Schofield placed seventh in the 400 and 800 meter freestyle relays.

Wendy Mooney (15-18) was seventh in the 800 free, ninth in the 1500 free and 14th in the 400 free. She joined Danika LeDuc, Jen Sheehan and Julianne Sullivan for a sixth place finish in the 400 free relay.

Also in 15-18, Matt Liberty finished sixth in the 400 I.M., seventh in the 1500 free and eighth in the 800 free and 200 fly. Garrett Burke was ninth in the 100 back and David Murman 12th in the 200 meter breaststroke.

In the relays, Burke, John Fischer, Liberty and Leslie placed eighth in the 400 free and medley events. In the 800 meter free relay, the MVP "A" team of Leslie, John Nigrelli, Murman and Liberty placed seventh while the MVP "B" team of Ryan Lebro, Adam Robb, Burke and Fischer finished in eighth.

grand slam, his second of the year.

The Blue trailed 3-2 in the last of the third when Nelken, Novelline, Hesenius and Quattelbaum walked, Steve Shepard singled in Nelken and Novelline, Matt Wolcott and Scott Henry reached on errors and Josh Nelken singled driving in two more for the Blue lead of 9-3.

With two out and the bases loaded in the sixth, Hesenius blasted a grand slam home-run and the Blue had their 15th straight win.

Andover Blue 9 - Wilmington 4

The hard hitting of Hesenius, Quattelbaum and Shepard ripped Wilmington 9-4. Scott Henry got credit for his third win and Peter Murphy got the save, pitching one and one-third innings of hitless baseball.

Josh Nelken and Toby Guzowski walked and Justin Hesenius and Gus Quattelbaum doubled and Steve Shepard's singled scored Quattelbaum for a quick 3-0 lead. In the fourth Jon Iarrobino singled, Nelken sacrificed, Guzowski reached on an error and Hesenius' second double cleared the bases for two runs. Wilmington cut the lead to 5-4 in the fifth, but the Blue scored four in the sixth for the 9-4 win.

Andover Blue 6 - Reading Astros 2

Solid pitching from Gus Quattelbaum and outstanding defense led the Blue to their 17th straight win. The Blue had two runs in the first when Nelken and Hesenius walked and Quattelbaum singled to fill the bases. Shepard hit into a fielder's choice and Nelken and Hesenius scored on a wild throw. Reading scored in the second and the Blue added a run in the third when Jeff Lembo reached on an error. Quattelbaum singled and Shepard hit into a fielder's choice with Lembo scoring.

Reading cut the lead to 3-2 in the fourth. The Blue got it right back when Andy Novelline singled, stole second, went to third on a passed ball and scored on Jon Iarrobino's squeeze bunt.

The Blue scored two in the fifth when Lembo walked, Hesenius doubled and both scored when Quattelbaum's fly ball was mis-played.

Quattelbaum pitched the complete game, allowing only five hits and striking out seven. Outstanding defensive plays were made by Steve Shepard in centerfield, Josh Nelken and Andy Novelline.

Andover Blue 16 - Andover Gold 0

For the 10th consecutive time Andover Blue beat the Gold. Justin Hesenius pitched his first Blue shutout, allowing two hits, and the defense contributed two double plays. The game was over in the top of the first when the Blue sent 17 men to the plate, scoring 122 runs off four pitchers. The Blue had seven hits, five walks and two errors in this eruption.

The first nine reached safely as Josh Nelken led off with a walk, Toby Guzowski singled, Justin Hesenius reached on an error, catcher interference, Gus Quattelbaum singled, scoring two, Steve Shepard reached on an error, filling the bases, Matt Wolcott and Andy Novelline singled, scoring two more, Jeff Lembo and Paul Allard walked, scoring two more, Toby Guzowski singled in two with his second hit of the inning, Justin Hesenius walked, Gus Quattelbaum singled in two more and Matt Wolcott singled, driving in two. When the dust cleared, the Blue led 12-0.

Justin mowed down the Gold and the Blue added one in the fifth and three in the sixth to close out the scoring 16-0.

Tennis tournament set for Aug. 24-26

The ninth annual Samaritan Tennis Tournament will be held Friday, Aug. 24, to Sunday, Aug. 26, at Willows Racquet and Fitness Center in North Andover.

The tournament, which is open to the public, will benefit the Samaritans of the Merrimack Valley, a 24-hour suicide prevention and befriending service for the Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire.

Two divisions for men and women singles will be arranged by playing level: advanced and intermediate. There will also be men's, women's and a mixed-doubles category with a limit of one singles and one doubles event only.

The tax-deductible entry fee is $25 for singles and $30 for a doubles team. The total fee is $50 per entrant if playing both events.

Entry forms are available at most local sporting goods stores, tennis clubs or from the Samaritans, 55 Jackson St., Lawrence.

The Samaritans respond to more than 3,000 calls for help every month.

Heartbreaking loss for Little League All-Stars ends 1990 season

By Rick Harrison

Heartbreaking and stunning seem like the most appropriate words to describe the 6-4 loss suffered by the Andover American Major (11-12 years) Little League All-Stars in their Bi-District rematch with Stoneham last weekend at Rotary Park in Wilmington.

Leading 4-2 with two outs and three Stoneham runners aboard in the top of the sixth and final inning, the Americans saw apparent victory turn into disaster when two players collided chasing a pop fly into shallow rightfield.

The ball dropped out of one fielder's glove to the ground as the tying runs raced home, and the next Stoneham batter clouted a two-run double to complete an improbable "rally" that carried the two-time reigning District 13 champs to victory over the two-time reigning District 14 titlists.

The loss eliminated Andover American from the international tournament, and for Stoneham the victory avenged a tough 8-7 loss when the same two organizations met at the same level last July. In that one, Stoneham raced to a 7-0 lead and then watched helplessly as A-A battled back for an impressive 8-7 triumph.

Andover's loss, after it had swept to five straight victories en route to the District 14 crown, did not detract from another solid pitching performance by Howie Schlichting who finished the tourney 3-1.

American coaches Joe Iarrobino and Steve Tisbert had a choice of pitchers, Schlichting or Dave Salafia (2-0).

"We saw Stoneham play Wakefield (7-2 win) and knew they were a good fastball hitting team," explained Tisbert. "Dave would probably have been right down their alley, so we went with Howie."

Schlichting went the distance for the fourth straight time, yielding seven hits including four infield singles. He didn't walk a batter, struck out seven and only two of Stoneham's six runs were earned.

The winners, whose coaches cleared the bench late in the contest figuring the game was lost, used three different hurlers including starter Mike Lindstrom. They combined to toss a five-hitter.

YWCA golf tournament set

The Friendship Cup Golf Tournament to benefit the YWCA's Girls Club is coming soon.

The first annual ladies' tournament will take place Monday, Aug. 13, at the Andover Country Club, with a shotgun start scheduled at 8 a.m.

The entry fee of $100 per person includes breakfast, carts, green fees, complimentary gifts and lunch.

Call 687-0331 for more information.

The game was scoreless until the fourth, although Andover threatened in each of the first two innings.

In the first leadoff batter Brian Tisbert was hit by a pitch and Ted Witman walked, but they were left stranded at first and second.

Stoneham drew first blood in the top of the fourth when John O'Donnell doubled, took third on an infield out, and crossed on Tom Joyce's single.

The Americans, who outscored their District 14 opponents 50-11 in five games, met the challenge with three runs in the bottom of the fourth.

Sharkey singled, advanced to third on a passed ball and wild pitch, and stayed there as Schlichting again walked and promptly stole second. Tisbert followed with a two-run double, moved to third on the throw home, and trotted across on Andy Henderson's basehit.

Stoneham closed to 3-2 in the fifth as Jason Hegarty singled, continued to second on an overthrow, took third on a passed ball, and scored on Chris Johnson's infield out.

Andover got it back in the bottom of the fifth, moving ahead 4-2 when Jeff Thompson doubled off the top of the fence and scored as Chris Kearn's grounder was misplayed.

Then came the fatal sixth.

John O'Donnell beat out an infield hit, Greg DeGrecio reached on an error, and Tom Joyce singled sharply to centerfield to load the bases with no one out.

Schlichting then bore down to retire the next two batters on a flyball to shallow center and a strikeout.

Hegarty then lofted the pop to shallow rightfield, the collision occurred, and as it did O'Donnell and DeGrecio scored to make it 4-4.

The ball, which was in the outfielder's glove for a split-second prior to the crash, popped out and was almost caught again as the player made a desperation leap.

Andover American had the top of its order up in the last of the sixth, but a two-out walk to Dave Salafia was sandwiched around three strikeouts to end the game.

Girls given chance to achieve at camp

More than 40 girls from the Lawrence area participated in the first annual Merrimack YWCA Opportunity Camp during the week of July 9-13. A mixture of athletics, academics and awareness brought the group together to experience a variety of sports and personal achievement programs.

Merrimack College head women's basketball coach Debbie Cogan played a major role in the camp.

"I was always taught to try and give something back to the community," Coach Cogan said. "I was presented with many chances when I was growing up and I think this camp was my chance to do the same for others."

The idea for this camp came from a similar one that also takes place at Merrimack. Head men's basketball coach Bert Hammel has run the Merrimack Academic/Basketball Awareness Camp, where youths from the Lawrence Boys Club have been exposed to academic and athletic opportunities for the past seven years.

The YWCA camp made the same opportunities available to girls ages 8 to 14.

American Legion Post beats Lynn, moves into state quarterfinals

Methuen and Lawrence helped the cause by losing to Beverly and Peabody respectively that same weekend, leaving all three deadlocked at the top with 10-4 records.

Methuen subsequently fell by the wayside, dropping out of the title picture, while Andover qualified for the playoffs despite an 8-4 loss to Lawrence in its regular season finale.

Post 8 qualified by finishing second in the Zone, and then moved to the state quarterfinals by sweeping past Lawrence 5-1 and 10-2 in their best-of-3 playoff series. Lawrence was the defending Zone and Sectional champ, having advanced to the state finals last August before bowing to Braintree.

Despite the tough loss to Norwood, which improved to 25-5 overall after edging Lowell 3-2 in the opening game of their semifinal series, Andover finished among the top 20 Legion teams in the state.

Iarrobino was ably assisted this summer by coaches Bob Rikeman (UMass.) and Charlie Meeker.

"We won because of great pitching and execution," explained Iarrobino. "You couldn't ask for two better starting pitchers than Chris Eggert and Dave Blank, and then we could choose from three other legitimate righthanded starter-relievers (Bill Batchelder, Joe Marinaro, Keith Abernathy) as well as Jim Hanning, Chris Lembo and Bob Sheehan."

Iarrobino lauded the contributions of Rikeman and Meeker, the former currently the pitching coach at UMass.

and the latter an Andover resident who played ball in Lynnfield, at Boston University, in the Boston Park League and in the Boston Red Sox minor league farm system.

"Bobby spent a lot of time working with all the pitchers, including the young kids, and both he and Charlie were invaluable."

Turning It Around

While Eggert was shackling Lynn in the season's most pivotal game, Joe Iarrobino and Dave Blank led the offense. Iarrobino contributed two hits and two RBI, while Blank drove in the third run.

Post 8 beat a quality pitcher that evening as well, Division 4 high school Player-of-the-Year Steve Roach of Lynn Tech.

The day-night twinbill sweep of Methuen and Lawrence saw Blank, 4-2 entering tonight's game and winner of four straight, fire a six-hitter with six strikeouts and one walk against Post 122.

Blank, Chris Eggert and Brendan Sharkey added RBI singles in the first, third and sixth innings at Phillips Academy.

Backup catcher Sharkey is one of four non-Andover High players on the roster. Brendan plays at St. John's Prep in Danvers, Bill Batchelder and Brian Novelline are student-athletes at Governor Dummer Academy in West Newbury, and Keith Abernathy is an ex-Golden Warrior who recently completed his freshman year at UMass.

In the 7-3 victory over Lawrence just hours later, Chris Eggert (four innings) and Batchelder (three innings) combined for 10 strikeouts as Post 8 jumped to a 4-0 lead in the top of the first and never trailed.

Batchelder, who owns one victory and four important saves, was especially sharp as he blanked Post 15 over the final three innings.

Abernathy ripped a two-run single in the first, later scored on a basehit by Matt Orlando, and Lawrence played an uncharacteristically sloppy game in the field to hasten its downfall.

Roller Coaster Weekend

Last weekend began with the 8-4 loss to Lawrence in the regular-season finale under the lights at Mark Devlin Field.

Post 15 erased a 4-3 deficit with five runs in the bottom of the fifth, Bill Batchelder taking the loss after relieving Joe Marinaro with the score tied 3-3 in the fourth.

Catcher Brett Hammond went 2-for-2 in the contest, while other singles were contributed by Jim Landry, Bobby Sheehan, shortstop Peter Reming, Matt Daniels, Dave Blank and Batchelder.

Post 8 was shorthanded for this one, Joe Iarrobino Jr. sidelined with a broken knuckle on his right hand and starters Chris Eggert and Matt Orlando home in bed after suffering heat stroke during their daytime jobs.

Eggert and Orlando were back for the subsequent best-of-three sweep of Lawrence, while Iarrobino returns to the lineup tonight against Norwood.

Andover, 5-1

Dave Blank tossed a three-hitter, whiffing eight and walking three, as Andover stymied Lawrence 5-1 in the playoff opener.

Blank and Post 15 starter Emilio Colon matched goose-eggs for four innings, but Post 8 broke it open with two runs in the fifth, two in the sixth and one in the seventh.

"Dave (Blank) had a short slump at the beginning of the season (losing his first two starts) because he started a construction job and wasn't throwing every day," said Iarrobino. "He was tiring quickly and didn't have much rhythm."

Once Blank returned to a regular throwing routine, however, and healed completely from a late high school season leg injury, the victories started to come again.

Andover's two-run fifth was accomplished when Hammond singled, Batchelder sacrificed, Matt Orlando walked, and RBI singles were slapped by Pete Reming and Jimmy Landry.

In the sixth Blank lashed a one-out single, Keith Abernathy reached on an error, Hammond walked to load the bases, Batchelder drilled a run-scoring single to centerfield, and Abernathy scored on Orlando's grounder as Lawrence went unsuccessfully for a doubleplay.

In the seventh Landry was safe on an error, stole second, took third on Bobby Sheehan's infield out, and crossed on Blank's single.

Blank and Batchelder (2-for-2) had two safeties each while Sheehan, Chris

Ninth annual Samaritan Tennis Tournament set for Aug. 24-26

The ninth annual Samaritan Tennis Tournament will be held Friday, Aug. 24, to Sunday, Aug. 26, at Willows Racquet and Fitness Center in North Andover.

The tournament, which is open to the public, will benefit the Samaritans of the Merrimack Valley, a 24-hour suicide prevention and befriending service for the Merrimack Valley and southern New Hampshire.

Two divisions for men and women singles will be arranged by playing level: advanced and intermediate.

There will also be men's, women's and a mixed-doubles category with a limit of one singles and one doubles event only.

The tax-deductible entry fee is $25 for singles and $30 for a doubles team. The total fee is $50 per entrant if playing both events.

Entry forms are available at most local sporting goods stores, tennis clubs or from the Samaritans, 55 Jackson St., Lawrence.

The Samaritans respond to more than 3,000 calls for help every month.

Ride a bike to help the Jimmy Fund

On Aug. 18 and 19, more than 1,000 bicyclists will take part in the 11th annual Pan-Mass Challenge, a 194-mile ride from Sturbridge to Provincetown to benefit Dana-Farber Cancer Institute's Jimmy Fund. The ride is expected to raise $1.5 million.

Interested riders for the One-Day Challenge - 80 miles - or the full two-day ride should contact Billy Starr at (617) 965-9624.

Andover Gold finishes season with two victories, headed to playoffs

By Rick Harrison

Andover Gold wrapped up its regular Suburban Pony League season with two more victories last week, beating the North Reading Braves 13-3 and Lynnfield Gold 8-6.

Gold also dropped a lopsided 15-0 decision to recent intra-town nemesis Andover Blue, leaving AG with an 11-7 league record including 6-2 over the last eight games. Overall Gold was 12-9 as it headed into this week's SPL playoffs.

Gold was scheduled to meet Wilmington in the first round of the single-elimination tournament. A victory there would mean a second round encounter with the survivor of the North Reading vs. Reading Rockets opener.

If Gold prevailed in its first two games, a semifinal showdown with Blue is listed for tonight at the Andover High varsity field (5:45 p.m.).

The best-of-3 league championship series kicks off this Saturday, with game two slated for Sunday.

Andover Gold, 13-3

Righthander Todd Murray (2-0) tossed a complete-game five-hitter, striking out six and walking two, while his teammates unleashed a season-high 18-hit attack in this game at North Reading High.

The victory completed a season series sweep of North Reading, the first game also ending with the same 13-3 score.

AG grabbed a quick 4-0 lead in the first when Mike Famiglietti rapped a one-out single, Mike Sullivan walked, John Shea singled to load the bases, Rick Saggese drilled a three-run triple to left-centerfield, and Andy Brown slapped an RBI single.

North Reading bounced back with all three of its runs in the bottom of the first, but Murray shut them out the rest of the way on three singles. The winning hurler was extremely sharp the last four innings, retiring 13 of the final 14 NR batters he faced.

Run-scoring singles by Famiglietti and Sullivan keyed the Gold second, and the score jumped to 10-3 in the third as Saggese walked, Brown belted an RBI triple, Murray spanked a run-scoring single, Sam McClellan singled and Bob Daley lined a sharp two-run single to leftfield.

Consecutive singles by Pat Walsh, Mike Sullivan and John Shea made it 12-3 in the fourth, and the final run in the sixth came on basehits by Sullivan, Matt Marvin and Murray (RBI).

Sullivan finished the game 3-for-3 with three runs scored.

Contributing two safeties apiece were Mike Famiglietti, Andy Brown (two RBI), Todd Murray (two RBI) and Sam McClellan, while single basehits came from Rick Saggese (three RBI), Brian Flanagan, Rick Mendez, Daley, Marvin and Walsh.

Defensively AG was also sharp with outstanding plays by Walsh at third base and Marvin in leftfield.

Andover Gold, 8-6

AG battled back from a 5-2 deficit to sweep another season series with Lynnfield, scoring three runs to tie in the fifth and three more to win it in the sixth at Lynnfield Middle School.

Gold inched ahead 1-0 in the top of Eggert and Abernathy added singles.

Peter Reming made the defensive play of the season in the bottom of the fifth, with one out and Emilio Colon at second base. Catcher Bob Zahn hit a rocket shot to the shortstop hole, but Remin dove three feet off the ground and stabbed the dart backhanded in the webbing of his glove while fully extended. He then had the presence of mind to roll over and come up throwing, doubling Colon off second base.

"I've played and coached a lot of baseball and that's probably the best defensive play I've ever seen," said Iarrobino. "It really pumped our kids up. They just exploded off the bench when Peter made the play. Lawrence's spirits seemed to sag a bit, too, especially since Colon was pitching and he was involved in the play."

Andover, 10-2

Lawrence was never really a threat in the second game, at Phillips Academy, as Post 8 broke on top with two runs in the first, three in the second and a final five-spot in the sixth.

Chris Eggert yielded just seven hits, fanned five and didn't walk a batter in his 14th consecutive strong performance since early April.

In the first Jimmy Landry walked, Bobby Sheehan singled, Eggert sacrificed both along, Blank was hit by a pitch to load the bases, and Abernathy's chopper to third base produced a wild throw to the plate for two unearned runs.

Peter Reming was hit by a pitch to launch the second-inning uprising. Landry delivered a perfect hit-and-run single through the second base hole, then stole second, and both runners crossed on Bobby Sheehan's single. Sheehan stole second and scooted across with the fifth run on Blank's single.

In the sixth Landry walked, Sheehan walked, Blank was issued an intentional pass, Abernathy drilled a two-run single to right-centerfield, Brett Hammond lofted a sacrifice fly, Bill Batchelder hammered an RBI triple, and Brendan Sharkey slapped a run-scoring single to centerfield.

For the game Sheehan, Blank and Batchelder had two hits apiece.

Defensively, Batchelder made a fine diving catch in leftfield and Matt Orlando played well at second base.

"I think the kids proved to themselves we were a solid ballclub," said Iarrobino. "We had people who came off the bench and did the job for guys who were injured or absent. The players were also very supportive of one another."

"The funny thing is we beat the good teams like Lynn (7-0 at the time), Peabody (8-1 before Andover) and Wakefield (Zone 8 champion), and then lost twice to Haverhill and to a Salem team that won only two games all season."

Lady Warriors prepare for 1990-91 basketball season

While the official start of the women's basketball season is still about three months away, Merrimack Head Women's Basketball Coach Debbie Cogan is nonetheless busily preparing for the start of the 1990-91 year.

Cogan announced last week that the Lady Warriors will have five new faces to help turn around a season that saw Merrimack finish with a disappointing 6-20 mark in 1989-90.

Julie Barrett is a 5'8", 163 lb. swingman from Manchester, N.H., who played at Brewster Academy. Coach Cogan is projecting her as a shooting guard and small forward.

"Julie has a gym rat mentality, a quality that I think we have lacked as a team and we need to attain," Coach Cogan says. "She will be an immediate contributor, especially on offense. Julie needs to work on her defense to become a complete player."

Bachelor is also a swingman, standing at 5'8" and weighing 160 lbs. She attended Catherine McAuley High School in Portland, Maine, and will be both a shooting guard and small forward.

"Jen will be a role player for Merrimack in her rookie season,"

Coach Cogan says. "She will give us a great attitude and a hard work ethic from September to March."

Lori Bunce is a 6'0", 155 lb. center, who is a native of Apopka, Fla., and played at Lake Brantley High School.

"Lori will give us depth in the front court," Coach Cogan says. "She will see considerable time as Tricia Lentz's backup. Lori gives up much needed size and strength in a halfcourt offensive situation."

Karen Max is a native of Cedar Knolls, N.J., and a graduate of Whippany Park High School. She is a 5'11", 140 lb. power forward who Coach Cogan is very excited about.

"Excitement is what I feel about Karen Max and Beth Pickles," Coach Cogan says. "They are arguably the two best athletes to come in during the same year that I have been coaching. Karen and Beth will give us great quickness in the four spot and could give opponents fits in trying to stay with them."

Beth Pickles is a Methuen native who attended Methuen High School. She stands at 5'11" and weighs 145 lbs., and Coach Cogan is enthused about her potential along with Karen Max.

"I feel that Merrimack got one of the premier small forwards to come out of the state of Massachusetts last year," Coach Cogan says. "Beth is the first woman student ever to sign early at Merrimack, and I can't wait to see her develop into one of the conference's outstanding power forwards over the next four years."

In addition to these five new recruits, the Lady Warriors will return eight letterwinners from last year's team, led by senior captains Susan Stewart (Methuen/St. Mary's) and Nancy McDermott (Westwood/Westwood), along with junior captain Tricia Lentz (Andover/St. Mary's). Stewart and sophomore Clare McInerney (Worcester/Burncoat) are the top two scorers returning from last year's squad.

Coach Cogan, who has compiled a 37-70 record in four years at Merrimack, will lead the Lady Warriors into action on Saturday, Nov. 17, against the University of Bridgeport in the first round of the New England Tip-Off Weekend to be held at the University of Lowell.

the second when Andy Brown drew a two-out walk, Matt Marvin singled and Brian Flanagan singled.

It went to 2-0 in the top of the fourth as Brown doubled and Bob Daley singled, but Lynnfield came back with five runs in the bottom of the stanza.

In the fifth John Shea reached on an error, Rick Saggese was hit in the back with a pitch, and Sam McClellan walked to load the bases. Andy Brown walked to force home a run, Matt

Marvin launched a long sacrifice fly, Daley walked to re-load the bases, and Todd Murray tied it with a single.

In the sixth Mike Famiglietti launched a leadoff double, Sullivan beat out a bunt and stole second, John Shea crushed a two-run triple to left field that put Gold ahead to stay, and Rick Saggese lofted a sacrifice fly to center.

Andy Brown and Mike Famiglietti did the pitching, surviving despite allowing 12 hits. Neither walked a batter.

25 years ago August 1965

Development of the stir for the new Andover senior high school got underway Monday with town officials carrying out a ground breaking ceremony to mark the occasion.

The George Brox, Inc., firm of Dracut has been awarded the site development contract and will prepare the area for erection of the new building.

Extremes in clothing for either girls or boys will not be acceptable at Andover High school during the coming school year.

An announcement this week quoted from the regulations was a guide to the purchasing of schoolwear.

For boys, shirts are to be of woven, not knitted, material and of the style that can be tucked into trousers. Tight trousers, Levi's or dungarees of any type are not acceptable.

Girls are advised to wear skirt of knee length. Beach sandals and culottes are not considered proper wear.

Lauriston Ward Jr. curriculum coordinator of the Andover school department has tendered his resignation. Notification was received by school board members Wednesday from Supt. of schools Edward I. Erickson.

Ward has accepted a position as director of "Classroom 21," a feature of Channel 2, the area's educational television.

Remember Hiroshima in various ways on Aug. 6

The North Andover People for Peace will hold its sixth annual Hiroshima vigil on the North Andover common Monday, Aug. 6. Activities will include origami crane making, poetry and stories. A silent candlelight vigil will be held at dusk in remembrance of the victims of Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

August 6 marks the 45th anniversary of the bombing of Hiroshima, the first use of nuclear weapons in warfare. An estimated 70,000 persons were killed and another 70,000 injured in the atomic blast over Hiroshima Aug. 6, 1945. Three days later, a second atomic bomb was dropped on the city of Nagasaki.

Monday's vigil will draw into focus the horror of nuclear warfare and the vision of world peace. All activities are free and open to the public. Candles and origami paper will be provided.

Chamber of commerce representative, the selectmen decided Monday night.

Other members recently appointed include; Police Chief James Johnson, School Supt. Kenneth Seifert, the Rev. Reginald A. MacDonald, Pamela Mitchell, Robert L. Merrill and Selectmen Susan Poore.

The auction of two small town owned lots off Essex Street attracted no bidders last Friday. The selectmen had approved the auction, setting the minimum bid price at $24,000.

Alzheimer Program celebrates first year

For those with memory upsets The Community Family's Memory Disorder Program is celebrating its first anniversary. One year ago, the Alzheimer/dementia program began providing a structured activity program for patients with memory disorders and education and relief for the families.

Young Fashions

Young Fashions has expanded and is now one third larger. Owners Rena Monoxelos and Sheri Sancartier are excited about the opportunity this provides for them to better serve their clientele by expanding their girls' preteen department. They carry a large selection of special occasion dresses for sizes 7 to 14. More accessories are available, including preteen jewelry, watches, schoolbags and gift items.

Young Fashions can outfit any child, boy or girl, infant to preteen, from head to toe. They carry a full selection of layette items for infants. Boys and girls in the 2 to 6x7 size range can choose from large displays of casual and dress clothes. Boys suits and sport coats up to size 20 are available, as well as a selection of shirts and ties. This store is truly one-stop shopping for the children in your life.

Special items available at the store include First Communion dresses and custom made veils, and an adorable line of hand-painted sneakers. Young Fashions carries some imported clothing.

Twice a year, Young Fashions presents a trunk show by New York designer Sondra Celli, whose specialty is preteen special occasion dresses. On October 24 they will present a fashion show at St. Constantine and Helen Greek Orthodox Church in Andover and on November 13 they will also present one for St. Michael's School at the Andover Marriott. For ticket information, call Rena or Sheri at the store.

Young Fashions is located at 93 Main Street, Andover. Hours are from 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Addison Travel

Addison Travel has moved to the street level location at 24 Chestnut Street, Andover, to better accommodate their customers. Addison Travel was established in 1978 by Helen Augusta. In 1989 Thomas and Carol Keefe purchased the agency. They are pleased that Helen Augusta agreed to stay on with them in a part-time capacity and offer a sense of continuity and contribute to the experience and maturity of long time employees.

Addison Travel is a full service travel agency. Their success is attributable to their dedication to service and ability to accommodate the customers' individual travel needs. Repeat customers and referrals attest to their satisfaction. Addison Travel will assist their clientele whether they need one flight or an around-the-world trip, whether personal or corporate, individual or tour. They are computerized in order to be able to determine where the best bargains are and the capability to book around-the-world trips in a couple of minutes.

Customers profit from Addison Travel's agents' many years of experience. They are sensitive to budget requirements and are dedicated to giving the best value for the money. They will give advice on documentation requirements, hotel and tours on international travel.

A profile of regular customers is kept by Addison Travel, recording special requirement such as dietary and seating preferences, wheelchair, etc. A boarding pass will be attached to the ticket whenever possible, facilitating baggage check-in and allowing the traveler to go directly to the gate.

Pictured above, from left to right, is the staff at Addison Travel: Carol Keefe (owner), Linda Capobianco (manager, lived in the Middle East, employee since 1985), Joan Lewis (outside sales person, employee since 1982), Sandy Lanouette (outside sales person, employee since 1982), Margaret Efinger (traveled extensively in Europe, employee since 1985). Seated are Tom Keefe (owner, thirty years' experience as airline travel manager and individual consultant for travel field before buying Addison Travel) and Mary Mason (an officer of Addison Travel). Not pictured is Helen Augusta.

certain party wall agreement entered into by and between Eliza J. Barnard et alii, Trustees, and Helen C. Allen dated December 31, 1913 recorded with North Essex District Registry of Deeds, Book 337, Page 366, and also subject to and with the benefit of any and all easements and other rights of record insofar as the same are in force and applicable.

Being the same premises conveyed to me by deed of Andover Savings Bank, dated July 25, 1984 and recorded with Essex North District Registry of Deeds at Book 1841, Page 246."

Said premises will be sold and conveyed subject to and/or with the benefit of any and all restrictions, easements, improvements, covenants, unpaid taxes, tax titles, municipal liens and assessments which take precedence over said mortgage, if any.

The premises to be sold shall also be subject to all leases and tenancies, if any there may be, having priority over said mortgage, to tenancies or occupation by persons on the premises now or at the time of said auction which tenancies or occupation are subject to said mortgage, to rights or claims in personal property installed by tenants or former tenants now located on the premises, and also to all laws and ordinances including, but not limited to, all building and zoning laws and ordinances.

Fifty Thousand ($50,000.00) Dollars of the purchase price must be paid in cash or by certified or bank check at the time of the sale and the balance of ten percent of the purchase price of the property shall be due within five (5) business days of the sale date. All persons intending to bid at the sale shall be required to show the auctioneer evidence of the required down payment prior to the sale. The balance of the purchase price shall be paid in escrow to MacGregor, Spurling, Hart & Trakimas, P.C., 105 Kenosha Avenue, Haverhill, MA, attorneys for the mortgagee, within thirty (30) days of the sale. Other terms will be made known at time and place of sale.

The undersigned mortgagee reserves the right to reject any and all bids made at the foreclosure sale, to amend or change the terms of sale by announcement made prior to foreclosure sale, and to continue the foreclosure sale to such subsequent date as the mortgagee may deem advisable.

MORTGAGEE'S SALE OF REAL ESTATE

By virtue and in execution of the Power of Sale contained in a certain Mortgage given by William R. Batchelder and Melody K. Marden to Home Savings of America, F.A., dated January 26, 1988, and recorded with the Essex County Northern District Registry of Deeds in Book 2668, Page 84, of which Mortgage the undersigned is the present holder, for breach of the conditions of said Mortgage and for the purpose of foreclosing, the same will be sold at Public Auction at 9:00 a.m., on the 16th day of August, A.D. 1990, on the mortgaged premises located at 7 Apollo Circle, Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, all and singular the premises described in said Mortgage.

TO WIT:

Two (2) certain parcels of land with the buildings thereon, situated in Andover, Essex County, Massachusetts, on the northwesterly side of Apollo Circle, a private way in said Andover and shown as Lot 24 and Lot 24 GA on Sheet #1 of 4 Sheets of River Ridge Estates on a plan filed with the North Essex District Registry of Deeds as Plan #5339 and said premises are more particularly bounded and described as follows according to said plan:

Lot 24
NORTHEASTERLY: by a curved line having a radius of eighty (80.0) feet and being the northwesterly line of said Apollo Circle, seventy-two & 20/100 (72.20) feet;

SOUTHEASTERLY: two hundred twenty (220.0) feet by Lot 23;

SOUTHWESTERLY: twenty (20.0) feet by land of Patrick R. Cadogan and Katherine Maloney;

SOUTHWESTERLY: again, two hundred fifty-nine & 93/100 (259.93) feet by Lot 24GA; and NORTHERLY: two hundred fifty-five (255.0) feet by Lot 25. Containing 37,512 square feet.

Lot 24GA - A triangular parcel of land, bounded and described as follows:

NORTHERLY: one hundred forty-nine & 17/100 (149.17) feet by Lot 31 GA;

EASTERLY: two hundred fifty-nine & 93/100 (259.93) feet by Lot 24; and SOUTHWESTERLY: three hundred sixty & 04/100 (360.04) feet by land of Patrick H. Cadogan and Katherine Maloney.

Containing 16,639 square feet.

Together with the right in common with others entitled thereto to pass and repass over the aforesaid Apollo Circle and Launching Road, for all the purposes for which such ways are commonly used in said Andover.

Meaning and intending and hereby conveying the same premises conveyed to us by deed of Evelyn M. Speight recorded herewith.

Said premises will be sold subject to and/or with the benefit of any and all restrictions, easements, improvements, covenants, taxes, assessments, liens or claims in the nature of liens, and existing encumbrances of record created prior to the Mortgage, if any there be. A deposit of Twenty-Eight Thousand Five Hundred Dollars in cash, certified check or bank check will be required to be paid by the purchaser at the time and place of sale with the balance of the purchase price to be paid within 30 days thereafter.

Other terms to be announced at the time and place of sale.

State aid cuts mean Andover loses $90,000

$13.7 billion proposal before approving the $13.43 billion budget Friday night, July 27. The cuts included $85 million from aid to cities in towns.

Andover gets about $5 million of state aid in several categories, according to Mr. Torrisi.

"They took it off Resolution Aid," he said.

Resolution Aid includes Chapter 70 education funds and other additional assistance funds, according to the finance director.

Andover's total resolution aid would have been $2,267,719 if it were level funded. The 4 percent across-the-board cut made last weekend would drop those funds the $90,000, to about $2,177,719.

"Those are preliminary numbers," Town Manager Buzz Stapczynski said this week. "But they're in that ballpark."

The Department of Revenue wasn't able to give him an exact figure when he talked to an official there Monday, according to Mr. Stapczynski.

"I won't know until later this week," the manager said.

"In my mind, it's estimated at $90,000. It could be up or down, depending on how the formula works for the town."

The town had planned on state aid being level funded.

"We assumed it would be level funded at Town Meeting," Mr. Torrisi said.

That assumption of level funding was a factor in residents not having to vote on a Proposition 2 1/2 override question at Town Meeting. A warrant article that proposed a $1.1 million override to boost the schools budget was withdrawn on the floor of the meeting.

Neither Mr. Stapczynski nor Mr. Torrisi was prepared Monday to say what specific cuts may now have to be made to the town budget.

"Until we have firm figures I don't want to over react," Mr. Stapczynski said.

"I think it's premature to talk about what's going to happen," Mr. Torrisi said.

A couple of things need to be looked at first, according to the finance director.

"We are going to have to wait and see what's on all the Cherry Sheet items," he said, referring to the other categories of state aid to the town.

"We have to wait and see how we close out the year."

"I mean it's not good news...but I can't really speak on what this means on the aggregate. We don't have that yet," Mr. Torrisi said.

Should kindergarteners switch sessions at mid-year?

be posted on the school door after the second week in July, she said.

"In conducting the survey, I found that parents were highly in favor of not switching the sessions mid-year," she said.

Many of the parents who are unhappy about the prospect of full-year morning or afternoon sessions are parents whose children received the afternoon slots, said Mrs. Gershenberg.

One of the arguments for keeping the kindergarten program the way it is, said Mrs. Gershenberg, is that morning hours have been traditionally thought best for young children. But, the disruption to a child during the mid-year switch can be equally as detrimental to learning, she said.

Cathy Burnett, whose daughter will be attending morning kindergarten in September, said she is unhappy because she didn't find out until this week that Mrs. Gershenberg was looking for input.

"I don't think enough people know about it (the possibility of a change.)

'I have all the sympathy in the world for working parents. I'm one myself, but my children come first. I've got to work my schedule around my children.'

Paula Carroll

It's a little late in the game to think about a change," said Mrs. Burnett, of 9 Glen Meadow Road.

Stephen Gerber, superintendent of the Amesbury school system, said full-year morning and afternoon kindergarten sessions have worked in his town. For the past two years Amesbury kindergartners haven't changed their session assignments.

"Our decision was made due to a lot of feedback from working parents who were having trouble accommodating child care because of the switches," said Mr. Gerber.

The mid-year change is very labor intensive for both parents, school staffers and transportation officials, said Mrs. Gershenberg. Many of the day-care providers with whom Mrs. Gershenberg said she spoke preferred that the sessions not switch.

Dr. Kenneth Seifert, superintendent of Andover schools, said the kindergarten session swap used to make sense so children could become accustomed to both schedules.

"...But now there are so many families with two parents working, many would like to arrange for a full-year scheduled at the beginning. The flip flop can create a lot of problems for these parents," said Dr. Seifert.

"I have all the sympathy in the world for working parents," said Paula Carroll, 6 Rogers Brook West. "I'm one myself, but my children come first. I've got to work my schedule around my children."

Mrs. Carroll, whose son will attend kindergarten in the afternoon this September, believes her child wouldn't benefit from an entire year of afternoon kindergarten.

"Part of the philosophy of kindergarten is to expose children to all aspects of a school environment to prepare them for first grade. Part of that is getting up and getting ready for school by eight in the morning," she said.

This week, Mrs. Gershenberg will present her findings to Dr. Seifert. From there, Dr. Seifert said he will research various pros and cons of full-year a.m. and p.m. sessions.

If Dr. Seifert decides to present the change in kindergarten scheduling to the School Committee for discussion and vote, the earliest the committee could hear the proposal would be Tuesday, Aug. 14, at its next regular meeting, 7:30 p.m. in the School Administration Building on Whittier Street.
